ISRO GEARS UP FOR 'EXTREMELY CHALLENGING' EXPERIMENT

ISRO is planning a controlled re-entry of an aged, decommissioned orbiting satellite on Tuesday. Re-entry refers to the return of a spacecraft into Earth's atmosphere, where it burns up. Controlled re-entries involve deorbiting to very low altitudes to ensure the impact occurs within a targeted safe zone. This manoeuvre is done by entering the atmosphere with a steep angle so that debris fallout, if any, will be within a small chosen area, usually in the Pacific Ocean.

CBI GRILLS RABRI, TO QUESTION LALU TODAY

As part of investigation into alleged land-for-railway jobs scam

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) on Monday questioned former Bihar chief minister Rabri Devi at her Patna residence for nearly four hours and issued notice to her husband RJD supremo and former Union railway minister Lalu Prasad in connection with the alleged land-for-job scam case.

An official told this newspaper that the agency had summoned Rabri Devi for questing a few days ago and she herself had fixed Monday as the date for her questioning at her residence. The visit was only to collect information from her and it was not a search or raid, the official clarified.

A CBI team comprising 12 members reached Rabri Devi's residence around 10 am in four cars and stayed there till 2 pm. Her son Bihar deputy chief minister Tejashwi Yadav was not at the residence when the sleuths reached there. However, his elder brother Tej Pratap Yadav, who is a minister in the Nitish Kumar cabinet, was present along with Rabri Devi.

Cong flays CBI action

The CBI action drew sharp reaction from the Congress, with party spokesperson Asit Nath Tiwari saying the BJP wants to suppress the Opposition

The CBI has already filed its charge sheet in the case. The special court in Delhi has summoned the accused, Lalu Prasad, Rabri Devi, their daughter Misa Bharti and others on March 15.

The agency will question Lalu Prasad on Tuesday at the premises of his daughter Misa Bharti in Delhi, officials said.

Rabri Devi's questioning happened a day after Tejashwi Yadav, along with eight other Opposition leaders, wrote to Prime Minister Narendra Modi against the purported misuse of central agencies.

According to sources, the CBI sleuths questioned Rabri Devi about appointments in the railway ministry when Lalu Prasad was the Union railway minister from 2004 to 2009. It is alleged that several persons got group D jobs in the railways after gifting or selling their land plots to the Lalu family.

26 cases of H3N2, but don't panic: Min

AKNISREE KARTHIK @ Bengaluru

WITH Karnataka recording 26 cases of H3N2, a variant of Influenza A, in three months, the state health department says citizens should start wearing masks in crowded places.

Of the 26, two cases of H3N2 were reported in Bengaluru. While officials did not divulge details of the patients, they maintained that they were not hospitalised.

The department also reported 23 cases of H1N1, 10 cases of Influenza B and 69 cases of Adenovirus, which causes respiratory infections, in Karnataka. In the backdrop of increasing flu cases, Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar chaired a meeting with experts from the TAC and health officials on Monday, a day after the Centre held a meeting, and requested people to take precautions and not panic. New guidelines to clip wings of influencers

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

BOLLYWOOD stars, who promote beauty products they have never used in their life, will no longer be able to do so as the government has tightened the norms for such paid endorsements.

Celebrities and other personalities who have considerable sway over the masses' purchasing decisions will now have to fully disclose their commercial relationship with the product or service they are endorsing.

According to the set of guidelines released by the Department of Consumer Affairs, celebrities, influencers, and virtual influencers on social media platforms will have to clearly disclose if they are promoting a particular product or service for monetary benefit, gifts, barter deals, of any other quid-pro-quo arrangement.

In the case of paid or barter brand endorsement, the disclosure should say 'advertisement', 'ad', 'sponsored', 'collaboration', or 'partnership'. P10

Arson at lake, summer worry for experts

Seek more security presence at Chunchaghatta Lake to protect life

MOHAMMED YACOOB
@ Bengaluru

WITH fire being reported on the lake bed of Chunchaghatta Lake in Bengaluru, activists have raised concerns over the destruction of vegetation, while officials have stated that more guards will be deployed.

According to lake conservationist and Senior Lead - Projects at Action Aid Raghavendra B Pachhapur, the problem of encroachment and incidents of fire in lakes is due to a lack of security. He said that he had filed a complaint with the BBMP in February, with regard to a broken fence and illegal entry of the lake area by miscreants, especially when it is off limits.

"The authorities have said in a reply that they did not have funds to protect the water body and only now will they take up the fence work under new grants," he said.

Activists further added that Chunchaghatta Lake has three frequent bird visitors, which are near-threatened (Oriental Darter, Painted Stork and Black-headed Ibis). Both Black-headed Ibis and Painted Stork frequent wet soil and shallow waters of the lake where they find food. Security needs to be tightened at the lake to protect these birds.

"Vegetation in the lakes has its own role, when green or when brown. Trees provide food, perching spaces, protection and habitat features for birds and other fauna. We need to do our best in conserving them. As the summer has begun, the BBMP should be alert and ensure that the lakes are guarded," stressed Pachhapur.

BBMP responds

BBMP Lake Engineer Vijaykumar Haridas stated that the incident at lake premises and officials rushed to the spot on Sunday night and contained the fire. "I did not know about any broken fence or the fire at the lake. I asked my concerned engineer and he said that at 11:30 pm on Sunday night, the fire was noticed and it was contained immediately. With regard to security, I will to attend the complaint and get the issue resolved and we will ensure that there is enough security for lakes in Bengaluru," said the official.

Activists meet Lokayukta over graveyard issue

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

PRO-Hindu activists led by Vishwa Sanatan Parishad leader S Bhaskaran and members of Srirama Sene on Monday met Lokayukta Justice BS Patil, with regard to the dispute over the BBMP's Hindu Kannada and Hindu Tamil burial graveyard.

The graveyard, Property Identification Number (PIN) 136-10034-115 and now at PIN 136-10034-117, have been encroached to build a BBMP office and indoor stadium at a cost of Rs 1 crore.

The activists said that Justice Patil has assured them that he would conduct a spot visit and also ensure talks between them and BBMP commissioner and joint commissioner, Bengaluru West, on this issue.

"The BBMP has built an office at the graveyard and a stadium is also being built. I hold MLA Zameer Ahmed Khan and his gang responsible for destroying the graveyard using his position. Now with Lokayukta spot visit and report, the MLA will be exposed. Thousands of skeletal and mortal remains went missing for the BBMP office and stadium," he said.

The activists said they would be intimated with a notice before the spot visit, following which a report will be prepared on the visit and arguments given by officials, and the same will be forwarded to the government.

Don't mix 'power' and politics: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Monday said there are two types of power -- electricity and politics. "We have seen political power in improper management of power sector. Politics should be kept away from the power sector," he added.

Basically, a family needs 40 to 70 units of electricity. But the Congress party's promise to give 200 units of free electricity is a joke. The government is giving 40 units of free power through various schemes. The announcement made by the government is based on the demand, the economics involved and practicality of how much it can give.

Bommai said even after giving Rs 3000 crore, the Energy Department is yet to overcome losses.

The CM was speaking on the sidelines of a function to inaugurate and lay the foundation stone of buildings of Bangalore Electricity Supply Company Limited (Bescom) in Ramanagara, Chitradurga, Tumakuru, Kolar, Chikkaballapur and Davanagere.

The CM said that due to unscientific policies of previous governments, the power sector has been incurring losses. The state government has decided to bring in transparency and efficiency in the functioning of the power sector, he said.

He said the state government has taken measures to implement the recommendations of the Gurucharan Committee to make Escoms financially self-reliant. The recommendations of the committee will help Escoms overcome losses.

He said discussions have been held to revise the salary of officials of the department and the revised pay-scales will be implemented soon. The government's focus is on improving renewable energy generation and storage of power. There is a need to bring down transmission and distribution losses through scientific mechanisms. Priority is being given to tap solar energy and storage, he added.

PILs good, but should not be misused, says SC judge

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SUPREME Court judge Justice B V Nagarathna on Monday said that public interest litigations (PILs) are an effective tool that have contributed towards good governance in the country, but cannot be turned into a weapon for those with vested interests.

Speaking at the first PES University Law Summit on Monday, titled 'Juris Conscientia', said said, "Good governance has always been a theme in our Indian history as it is fundamental to the socio-political existence. The concept of the PIL gradually modelled by the Supreme Court has disciplined governance in our country. The PIL is an effective weapon for delivering justice to the citizens. It is for promoting good faith. But it cannot be a weapon in the hands of vested private interests who misappropriate such mechanisms for the purpose of public use," she said.

She said that there are a growing number of cases where PILs are filed to benefit private players or companies, rather than in the interest of the public. "PILs are being increasingly filed in relation to matters of projects of public importance by unsatisfied tenderers and business rivals. This practice must be nipped in the bud by the court. The PIL is a great tool which is to be used with great care and circumspection," she said.

'We are proud to be part of RMS history'

FOR the first time in its history, the Rashtriya Military School (RMS) here inducted has its first batch of girl cadets. The cadets said that they are proud to be a part of RMS history and hope to set an example for other girls to join the Indian armed forces. "It feels like our hard work has finally paid off. It also feels like it is a step in the right direction. We are very proud of ourselves for coming this far," said Diljan Kaur, one of the cadets.

The six cadets from different parts of the country started their Class 6 schooling for the academic year 2022-23, leaving behind their families to realise their dream of joining the armed forces. Harshi Patel (Cadet No 5244) from Gujarat, Varsha Yadav (Cadet No 5247) from Haryana, Diljan Kaur (Cadet No 5248) from Punjab, Gowri Deepa (Cadet No 5246) from Andhra Pradesh, Aditi Nehra (Cadet No 5249) from Uttar Pradesh and Simran Pareda (Cadet No 5245) from Odisha were admitted after clearing the Common Entrance Test (CET), interviews and medical tests. The school has two inductions - at Class 6 and Class 9. Of the 5,000 aspirants who wrote the examination at the RMS centre here, 900 were girls.

"These cadets will not be treated any differently from their male counterparts. Once they are part of the school, they are considered equal and are given specific cadet numbers," said RMS Principal Lt Col Dipankar Choudhury.

He told TNIE that the school is constructing a hostel and other facilities for girl cadets. "Hostel facilities are being built and we are expecting to see a full-fledged campus within four years. We are also expecting an exponential increase in the number of girl cadets for the coming academic year," he said. Separate accommodation has been made for girl cadets at the administrative building, he added.

"We have come here with a goal. My family is proud of me for being able to come this far. Four of my cousins are keen on joining RMS," said Harshi Patel.

DON'T APPLY FOR B.Ed COURSES IN NEW UNAFFILIATED COLLEGES, SAYS B'LORE UNIV

BENGALURU: Bangalore University has advised students against applying to B.Ed courses in unaffiliated colleges and released a list of colleges that have stopped being affiliated since 2022-23. The university released a list of seven colleges that are currently unaffiliated to Bangalore University due to non-extension of National Council for Teacher Education (NCTE) recognition. Due to this, the university has stated that the following colleges have not received affiliation for the year 2022-23: St Stephen's Teachers College, GKM B.Ed College, Pragathi College of Education, Nethaji College of Education, Amitha B.Ed College, Basaveshwara College of Education, and GM College of Education. The university has advised students against applying for admission to the colleges for their B.Ed courses. "Students are hereby advised not to take admissions for B.Ed courses in the colleges. In case they get admitted, the university is not responsible for such admissions," BU stated.

HC BENCH TELLS SCHOOLS' BODY TO APPROACH SINGLE JUDGE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE division bench of the Karnataka High Court on Monday asked the Registered Unaided Private Schools and Organisation for Unaided Recognised Schools, which has questioned an interim order on the circular with regard to board assessment for classes 5 and 8, to approach the single judge.

The appeals were filed against the rejection of interim prayer of stay for the circular by a single judge. The division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Ashok S Kinagi asked the appellants to approach the single judge and requested the single judge to decide the matter as expeditiously as possible, as exams are approaching.

The single judge on February 23, 2022, noted that the circular dated December 12, 2022, which is questioned in all the three writ petitions, does not contemplate conducting Board examinations to Standard 5 or Standard 8 and it is also clearly stated that there is no question of detaining or holding back any student in the same class if a such student fails in the examinations.

With these observations, the single judge stated that the question of the circular being in contravention of Sections 16 or 30 or 38 of the Right to Education Act is not forthcoming in the circular. For the limited purpose of considering the interim prayer, "I do not find that the petitioners would be entitled to grant of an interim order. Accordingly, at this stage, grant of an interim order is rejected", the single judge noted.

The single judge had also clarified that this court has not heard the petitioners or respondents on the merits of the matter and it is open for the parties to address their respective arguments on the merits of the case.

Against this, the appeals were filed before the Division Bench.

07TH March : Venus, planet of infinite love, is happily ensconced in passionate zones, and seriously romantic locations. This is not to say that we will all be falling in love, but that we are right to follow our feelings and intuitions. The next month may be a perfect time for dreamers of all shapes, sizes and shades!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You should wake up with a spring in your step - hopefully. This may be an emotional day, but it could also be a positive one. The feelings to emphasise today are those thoroughly saintly qualities of compassion and sympathy for the under-dog which do you such credit.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You might be a little secretive today - and why not! It may be that other people are not ready to hear what you have to say, or even that you yourself do not yet fully understand your deeper feelings. In that case, you have all the more reason to delay.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Teamwork will serve you best. If you must press on alone, it may be that financial pressures are paramount, or that money is just generally on your mind. Your attitudes are likely to be somewhat conservative and tied to the past, but there is nothing wrong with that!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
It's a special time of year - again! This doesn't mean that everything will be easy, but it will be positive, which is an entirely different matter. Events of importance are lining up. All you have to do is make sure you have the skills and experience to make the most of them.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Bear in mind that very soon you will be under powerful pressure to come clean. It may be that you have nothing to hide but, in any event, you should be as honest as possible, and that means being straight with yourself as well as with others. Choose your words with care.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You are known to be cautious in many matters, but you can be surprisingly assertive when it comes to joint finances. This is one such time, and you should make it clear that your desires must be respected. You might be surprised how willingly others do your bidding if you ask in the right way!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Listen carefully and pay great attention to partners' feelings. If there is to be any emotional friction today, early morning and mid-afternoon are the likely moments, which means that around these times you should be especially diplomatic. Spread a little goodwill and you'll earn respect.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There are some indications that this should be a busy day, but not overwhelmingly so. While you will have your fair share of chores, there could also be opportunities to duck and dive and generally opt out of unwanted commitments should you wish! Just make sure that you don't let anyone down.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The times are looking positive, although finance is one area where you could feel uncomfortable. To be precise, it's joint monetary matters which could be irritating, and you may easily come to resent domestic costs. Ultimately, it's your status which is more important than your bank balance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
If there is any question about your priorities, family matters should come first. Even at work, you will do best if your profession in some way concerns the home, domestic matters or family relationships. In love, stand back and let others set the pace.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You must accept whatever boundaries or restraints are necessary to enhance your aims, and not create any sort of rumpus, especially where joint agreements are concerned. Your major goal now should be to build up your long-term security - no questions asked!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It's hard cash which holds the key to your current ambitions. In all matters, especially financial, it's a moment to be assertive. This doesn't mean being aggressive or selfish, but it does mean standing up for yourself - and seeing that your interests are respected.

IMA's advice: Stop taking antibiotics for common cold, fever

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

MEMBERS of the Indian Medical Association (IMA) have advised citizens not to take antibiotics if they have cold, cough or fever. Doctors at IMA also told their colleagues in the environment ministry and municipalities to check underground and sewage water samples for cases of H3N2 and bacterial infection, which are on the rise.

The IMA standing committee for Anti-Microbial Resistance (AMR) on Monday issued a series of guidelines for people to follow. It has stated that citizens should not take antibiotics as it gradually kills the presence of good bacteria in the body, and the natural capability of humans to fight diseases.

Cautioning that H3N2 is contagious and so are other infections, the need to check on water samples is essential, said IMA Standing Committee for AMR chairman Dr Narendra Saini.

Cases of H3N2 are rising as people have let their guard down completely, post pandemic. "Citizens have forgotten that maintaining social distance from those having cold and cough is a must. Citizens have forgotten the need to maintain hygiene and if ill, one must avoid crowded places. While cases of viral infection rise because of changes in season, it is also a localised issue," he said.

He added that citizens must know that antibiotics do not cure viral infections, they cover bacterial infection. By taking antibiotics their resistance to fight diseases comes down. He also warned that citizens should not take the medicines which were prescribed during the pandemic. It is advisable to visit a well qualified doctor at the moment, if the infection persists for more than five days.

IMA members said rising cases of H3N2 are also being monitored by the National Centre for Disease Control. IMA members also cautioned the rise in sales of over-the-counter drugs of antibiotics on the rise. They said stern warning is being issued to pharmacies and admitted there was need to regulate it.

DEALING WITH H3N2

SYMPTOMS

Cough, sore throat, fever, runny nose, headache, chills, fatigue, body pain, loss of appetite and breathlessness. In some cases, vomiting and diarrhoea. Doctors say symptoms usually settle down in about a week

WHO IS AT HIGH RISK?

Infants, children aged below 15, pregnant women, elderly, those with immune deficient conditions, and medical and surgical illness

DOs

- Wear masks & avoid crowded places
- Cover mouth and nose while sneezing and coughing
- Avoid touching eyes and nose
- Have plenty of fluids
- Take paracetamol for fever and bodyache

DON'Ts

- Shake hands or use other contact greetings
- Take antibiotics or other medicines without consulting doctor
- Sit close together and eat

AVOID ANTIBIOTICS: SUDHAKAR

Experts said it is not right to take medicines without doctors' advice, and take antibiotics unnecessarily. Medicines should be given based on symptoms, Dr Sudhakar said. There is no shortage of medicines, he added.

Man killed after going out with friends to gamble

Bengaluru: A 58-year-old man engaged to create fire lines in Suvarnamukhi forest area, attached to Bannerghatta forest, was murdered when he went out with his friends to gamble. The incident happened early on Sunday. All the accused are suspected to be inebriated. The accused killed the victim, D Doddamadaiah, by smashing his head with a stone. The victim's son, who works in Bannerghatta forest as an elephant watcher, filed a complaint with the Bannerghatta police. Police have taken four persons into custody, of whom two are said to have surrendered. Doddamadaiah, a resident of Jigani hobli in Anekal taluk, had returned home from night shift when he is suspected to have been taken away by the accused for gambling. Police have filed a case against Tarun, Nagamadha, Saipal, Ravi and Esu. The victim is suspected to have won a huge amount and refused to play.

Gay partner killed ad agency owner?

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE murder of a 44-year-old advertising agency owner, whose body was found at his house behind a petrol bunk in Nayandahalli in the early hours of February 28, has taken an interesting turn with the accused being his gay partner. The deceased and accused were reportedly in a homosexual relationship for the past two years.

The family of the accused, Iliyas alias Iliyaz Khan, 26, a resident of Padarayanapura, had started searching for a girl to get him married, and the accused himself wanted to get married, but the victim was trying to stop him. Fearing that his relationship with the victim would come to light, the accused smashed his head with a hammer and stabbed him with a scissor.

The victim, Liyakath Ali Khan, was murdered at his house behind Chetty's petrol bunk in Nayandahalli. Two days before the murder, Ali had married another woman, identified as Muskaan. Ali's first wife Shabana Khanum, daughter Deenaj Khanum, a second-year MBBS student, and son Armaan Khan, a first-year PU student, lived in Chandra Layout 1st Stage.

"In the past, Iliyas had been engaged to a girl but it was cancelled, and his parents were on the lookout for another girl. He was worried about his future and also frustrated as Ali was not letting go of him. On the day of the murder, while engaging in a sexual act, they had an argument about Iliyas's future. In a fit of rage, the accused hit Ali with a hammer and stabbed him with a scissor. The accused had brought the scissor to give to Muskaan as she wanted it for some domestic work," Laxman Nimbargi, DCP (West), told the media.

After the murder, Iliyas had attempted suicide by popping some pills. He was admitted in hospital and discharged on Monday, and was produced before court. Initially, it was suspected that the murder was over a financial row, and the family had suspected the role of Iliyas as he was always with Ali.

Infection will clear in 2-5 days: Sudhakar

SUDHAKAR told the media: "There is no need to panic regarding the H3N2 infection. Even before the onset of summer, temperatures started soaring in February itself, and the sudden shift from cold to warmth has led to a spike in cases."

Sudhakar said the infection will clear up within 2-5 days. "People who suffered from Covid-19 earlier seem to have more cough when infected with H3N2. More cases of infection are seen in children below 15 years and those above 65 years of age. Pregnant women are also more likely to get infected. The spread of infection can be prevented by following strict hygiene and social distancing." He said: "We are screening 25 cases of SARI and ILI reported in Victoria and Vani Vilas Hospitals to keep track of the variants."

H3N2 is a subtype of Influenza A and the symptoms and precautions to be taken are similar to Covid. This is an annual flu virus and is different from the SARS-CoV-2 virus that causes Covid-19.

Dr M K Sudarshan, chairman, Covid-19 Technical Advisory Committee

Doctors and staff will be given influenza vaccines by the government. The minister admitted that the vaccine was being administered till 2019, but was discontinued due to Covid, and would be resumed in all 31 districts. Sudhakar also said that detailed guidelines would be issued by the health department.

Surgeons reattach woman's amputated hand

ENS @ Bengaluru

A completely amputated hand of a 29-year-old woman was successfully reattached by a team of plastic surgeons, at Sparsh Hospital in Yeshwanthpur.

The woman's hand was amputated at the wrist while she was at work in a private company in Peenya, on February 3. She was rushed to hospital two hours after the injury, and the amputated hand was brought in a polythene cover placed in an ice box.

The team of plastic surgeons repaired individual tendons, major arteries, veins, nerves and skin, while the orthopaedic team stabilised the wrist with K-wires (a type of stabilisation wire). The replantation surgery took about five hours to complete, said a press release.

The patient was discharged on February 10 and has been visiting the hospital for regular follow-ups, said Dr Karthik Vishwanath, consultant in Plastic, Cosmetic and Reconstructive Surgery.

In three months, she will require a reassessment of the tendons and a secondary procedure to improve the function and strength of the hand. She will also require extended physiotherapy to optimise the hand's function, doctors said.

BJP rath stops as Ashoka avoids Somanna's turf

Housing minister may hop to Cong, said to be in touch with DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru:

INTERNAL bickering within the ruling BJP came to the fore as the party's 'Vijayasankalpa' rath yatra stopped abruptly at Housing Minister V Somanna's constituency Govindarajanagar, with Revenue Minister R Ashoka skipping it midway on Monday evening.

The roadshow, in which BJP Karnataka in-charge Dharmendra Pradhan and Union Minister of State for Agriculture Shobha Karandlaje took part, was planned up to Nayandahalli. But as Pradhan hopped off at Nagarabavi, Ashoka followed suit, though Somanna tried to convince him. Upset, Somanna also abandoned the rath yatra, and left in his car, leaving the rath and workers in the lurch.

Of the four rath yatras, one was assigned to Vokkaliga leader R Ashoka in Old Mysuru region, and earlier at the launch, he had even spoken appreciatively of Somanna.

But differences have erupted between them, and pose a setback for the party in the run-up to assembly polls, especially as Home Minister Amit Shah wants to win most of the 28 assembly seats in the IT capital. There were differences between the duo as they both wanted the Bengaluru in-charge minister's post, but Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai retained it.

According to sources, Somanna, who was with JDS earlier, and switched to BJP for the sake of former CM B S Yediyurappa, has been in touch with KPCC president D K Shivakumar.

"Due to infighting between Min Somanna and Ashoka Vijaya Yatra stopped mid way in Bangalore Vijayanagar. Corruption Infighting, Communal, Misgovernance, No development = BJP Karnataka(sic)," tweeted Nandan Kashyap, social media coordinator for KPCC campaign committee for the 2023 polls.

Roadshows held

The BJP held roadshows led by BJP national general secretary Arun Singh at Anekal and Chandapura, Bommai at Basavanagudi in Bengaluru, state president Nalin Kumar Kateel, CT Ravi, Mysuru MP Pratap Simha at Malavalli, Srirangapatna in Mandya district, as a prelude to PM Narendra Modi's arrival to dedicate the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway on March 12.

Siddu, DKS face heat over plans to induct min Narayana Gowda into Cong

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

As the Congress screening committee is about to finalise candidates for the Assembly elections, party leaders are under pressure not to induct Sericulture Minister KC Narayan Gowda into the party and to let him contest from the KR Pet constituency.

Narayana Gowda, who got elected from JDS in the 2018 election, had switched over to BJP to help it form the government. Later, he won the by-election from KR Pet and created history. Recently, he hit the headlines, hinting that Congress had extended him an invite. Now, it is almost certain that he would join Congress in the presence of KPCC president DK Shivakumar during the Prajadhwani Yatra on March 13.

CLP leader Siddaramaiah welcomes BJP local leaders who joined the party at T Narasipur on Monday

Angry with the development, Mandya Congress leaders N Chaluvarayaswamy, PM Narendraswamy, ticket aspirants Vijayarame Gowda, Nagendra, B Prakash, Kikere Prakash, former MLA Chandrashekar and four others held a closed-door meeting with CLP leader Siddaramaiah. They said they will work for the party's victory if one among the six aspirants is fielded in KR Pet. They argued that Gowda has become unpopular, has lost sympathy and his entry would be a liability.

Siddaramaiah told them that the party will conduct a survey. Congress is also looking at cash-rich candidates to take on BJP and JDS, which is a force in the constituency.

Unhappy with the response, the aspirants and leaders have knocked on the doors of former MP Rehman Khan and have appealed to him to stop Narayana Gowda's entry into the party.

Meanwhile, Congress workers protested in KR Pet and set fire to banners, bunting, and publicity material, opposing the induction of Gowda.

They wanted to know Gowda's contribution to Congress and sought reasons for denying the ticket to the aspirants. They said though Congress lost the last two elections from the constituency, they have organised the party at the booth level and why should Gowda be brought in after his stints with BSP, JDS and BJP.

The Congressmen alleged that Gowda and his supporters have targeted them and humiliated them in the constituency. The striking party workers accosted Gangadhar for more than 2 hours and wanted him to apprise them of the survey report and to send out a video message to say that it will not be a smooth journey for Gowda in Congress. Gangdhar wound up the meeting and left the Congress office.

Siddu had set graft target for ministers: CM

ENS @ Hubballi

Launching a tirade against former CM Siddaramaiah, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Monday said that Congress Legislature Party leader had given target to his ministers for collection.

"Ask MB Patil, HC Mahadevappa and KJ George about the target," Bommai said, adding that Congress has always encouraged corruption and have no moral grounds to question BJP.

Reacting to Congress calling for a bandh over alleged corruption in the state government on March 9, Bommai said, "The Congress would itself be bandh soon as it is a den of corruption."

"The time has come for the party to become extinct. No one will support their bandh," he said.

'False prestige'

After Congress Belagavi Rural MLA Laxmi Hebbalkar re-inaugurated Shivaji statue which was already inaugurated by the CM, Bommai said his predecessor BS Yediyurappa had released Rs 50 lakh for it, and called the re-unveiling a drama staged by the Congress as for false prestige.

Virupakshappa moves HC for anticipatory bail

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHANNAGIRI BJP MLA K Madal Virupakshappa, who is on the run after the Lokayukta police filed an FIR against him in a corruption case, has filed two petitions before the Karnataka HC -- one to quash the FIR and another for anticipatory bail.

The Lokayukta police registered an FIR against Virupakshappa on March 2, 2023, based on a complaint filed by Shreyas Kashyap. He is absconding after his son Prashanth Madal was trapped while accepting a bribe.

In his petition, Virupakshappa contended that the averments made in the complaint did not disclose the commission of any offences by him. The only object of filing the complaint is to harass him, he claimed.

In another petition, he appealed to the court to grant him anticipatory bail and direct the Lokayukta police to enlarge him on bail in the event of his arrest. Both petitions are likely to come up for hearing in a day or two.

He contended that despite there being no set of facts so as to constitute the commission of offences and that in the absence of no specific demand or acceptance by him, the lodging of complaint and registering of FIR against him and continuation of the proceedings pursuant thereto, would amount to gross abuse of the process of court and of law.

The public servant concerned himself should have demanded and accepted the bribe money or attempted to get any undue advantage in order to perform a public duty, in order to register FIR under Section 7(a) and (b) of the Prevention of Corruption Act. In this case, there is no such allegation against him and he was not even the person who was trapped pursuant to the registration of FIR. Virupakshappa stated the tender calling authority of KSDL is the additional general manager. The allotment and acceptance of purchase order have been done by him in favour of the complainant. The petitioner is nowhere connected to the issuance of the alleged tender in favour of the complainant.

BSY's chopper landing delayed by garbage

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kalaburagi

THE helicopter, carrying former chief minister BS Yediyurappa, encountered a landing predicament on Monday morning in the outskirts of Jewargi town when plastic sheets and pieces of tarpaulin, began flying in the air as the chopper approached the landing spot.

The garbage items reduced visibility of the pilot, who decided to postpone the landing for a few minutes. The chopper hovered over the spot and landed after authorities removed the items.

Yediyurappa arrived in Jewargi to participate in a roadshow as part of the Vijay Sankalpa Yatra. From Jewargi, he went to Afzalpur and to Aland in the same chopper. At night, the former CM is scheduled to arrive in Kalaburagi by road, and will fly to Yadgir district on Tuesday.

Gowda out of hosp, to decide on candidates

@ Bengaluru/ Hassan

WITH former PM HD Deve Gowda getting discharged from hospital after a week of treatment at Manipal Hospital, political circles are now curiously watching who he will favour as candidates for assembly segments in his home turf Hassan.

Gowda is ailing from age-related health issues, and the fluid collected in his legs was drained out. He will be recuperating at his younger daughter Shylaja's home in Padmanabhanagar. "He will meet only family members," sources said.

Former CM H D Kumaraswamy and his brother HD Revanna are likely to get the Hassan constituency ticket issue resolved with the advice of their father. With Revanna's son and Hassan MLC Dr Suraj Revanna calling on Gowda in hospital, chances of the patriarch favouring his daughter-in-law Bhavani Revanna as candidate cannot be ruled out, a source said. Kumaraswamy is in favour of party leader Swarup Prakash, hailing from the 'Dasa Vokkaliga' sect of the Vokkaliga community, which has a sizable electorate of about 40,000 in the constituency. The second list of 45 candidates is likely to be announced on March 11 or 14.

Ticket fix keeps Hassan off Pancharathna route

BR UDAYA KUMAR @ Hassan

Upset over distribution of ticket, former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy has excluded Hassan constituency from Pancharathna Yatra.

In Hassan, the tussle over ticket distribution has become a headache for the Gowda clan, which has led to a rift between Kumaraswamy and HD Revanna.

The yatra is scheduled to enter Hassan district on March 10 from Belur, and tour the district till March 17. The JDS leaders have decided to hold a separate rally in Hassan constituency after a feud between Bhavani Revanna and HP Swaroop, son of former JDS MLA late HS Prakash, over ticket. Kumaraswamy had decided to give the ticket to Swaroop, although Bhavani Revanna had expressed interest to contest.

Sources said Kumaraswamy has decided to shelve the yatra in Hassan to avoid humiliation for his party and family members, till a consensus is arrived at.

He is upset over the comments made by Bhavani and her sons Hassan MP Prajwal and MLC Suraj against him.

When the leaders took the matter to JDS supremo HD Deve Gowda, he strictly warned his daughter-in-law Bhavani to refrain from making any statement in the public regarding the ticket issue. Gowda assured that he will take the responsibility, and will announce the candidate for Hassan.

Since then, there have been no comments over ticket distribution. On the other hand, Kumaraswamy unhappy for failing keep his promise that the Hassan ticket will be given to a party worker to defeat sitting BJP MLA Preetam J Gowda.

Govt busy collecting money before MCC, says DKS

Belagavi : KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Monday alleged that since the BJP government is at the fag end of its term, they are busy collecting money from all the departments before the model code of conduct comes into force. He said, "People want a good and a corruption-free government that works to improve their lives. The state government has invited interim tenders for irrigation, PWD works, and instructed contractors to start works by releasing funds in advance. Works are going on in the power department without inviting tender. As they cannot make money once MCC comes into force, they have instructed Lokayukta to raid houses of Congress and JDS leaders," he alleged.

BJP leader accuses Siddu of ₹200-cr snacks scam

Bengaluru: BJP Bengaluru South unit president NR Ramesh alleged that during Siddaramaiah's tenure as chief minister, Rs 200 crore scam took place over serving snacks to foreign dignitaries and guests. "Rs 200 crore were looted in the name of coffee, snacks and biscuits," alleged Ramesh, and demanded the state government to hand over the case to the CID or CBI. Releasing related documents on Monday, he said, "This is a huge scam involving Siddaramaiah, his staff, state government staff, and also the officials of the Administrative Reforms Department. More than Rs 200 crore were looted for treating foreign guests and dignitaries for 5 years from 2013-18."

Congressman distributes free sarees, women injured in minor stampede

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

AHEAD of the Assembly polls, several aspiring candidates are busy wooing voters by distributing gifts on the pretext of religious rituals. In a latest case, several women were believed to be injured in a minor stampede that occurred during the distribution of sarees by supporters of a high-profile leader, who is likely to be the Congress candidate from the Raibag Assembly segment.

Thousands of women thronged the farmhouse of Shambhu Kallolikar, a senior IAS officer of the Tamil Nadu cadre who recently took a voluntary retirement to enter politics, to attend the pooja to the newly dug well at the farmhouse at Jodatti village in Raibag taluk on Sunday.

Even as the distribution of sarees was on, the massive crowd of women went out of control and some of them sustained injuries in the mad rush. Sources said the number of women swelled after the news of free sarees spread in Raibag taluk.

Over 20,000 women gathered at the farmhouse, more than the organisers expected. Unable to control the rush, the organisers cancelled the distribution of sarees.

On the pretext of holding haldi-kumkum events, leaders are distributing sarees, utensils, mixers and dinner sets. Recently, Kagwad MLA Shrimant Patil distributed sarees on the premises of his sugar factory in Kagwad. Prior to that, MLA Laxmi Hebbalkar, former MLA Sanjay Patil and Congress leader Nagesh Mannolkar too distributed goodies to the voters.

With Congress certain to field Kallolikar against sitting MLA Duryodhan Aihole of BJP in Raibag, the contest between the two is expected to be close. Aihole has won the last three elections in a row and yet he is expected to face a tough challenge from Kallolikar, given his rising popularity in the constituency.

Gadag BJP ticket aspirant starts 'one rupee, one roti' campaign

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

A BJP ticket aspirant in Gadag has started a 'one rupee, one roti' campaign. The aspirant, Anil Menasinkai, has been going around asking people to contribute one rupee for his nomination and one roti to carry out the campaigning for the upcoming election.

"The aim is to tell everyone that leaders are for the people, by the people and from the people," he said, starting the campaign in Soratur village, which is 14 km from Gadag town, on Sunday.

The first house he visited was that of Neelappa Sitaralli at Sortur in the morning. He also went to several houses and collected a Re 1 coin and one roti from each one. Villagers happily invited Anil and offered him rotis with chutney and curd. As news of this unique campaign spread, people from surrounding villages came to see it first-hand at Sortur.

Addressing the gathering, Anil said he will file his nomination with the money collected from the people. "I want to bring a change and convey it to the people that we are not leaders, but servants of the people. I will visit all villages in the Gadag Assembly area and seek blessings from members of the public through this campaign," he said.

Neelappa Sitaralli, a villager from Sortur, said, "It is a welcome step and we offered Anil a roti and a rupee. Gadag taluk is still not developed and there are many problems. We want basic infrastructure first. We have asked the aspirant that our village should get all basic needs. We are not asking for a model village, but a normal village and he has promised to do it."

Village leaders slap hefty fine on inter-caste couple

Kunagalli in Ch'nagar ostracises groom's kin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

EVEN in the 75th year of Independence, incidents of social ostracism and boycott still prevail in the rural belt. An incident reported at a village in Chamarajanagar district is testimony to this.

According to a complaint, in 2018, Govinda Shetty, a resident of Kunagalli village near Kollegal, of the Uppara community married his girlfriend Shwetha, who is from a scheduled caste from Hoovinakoppalu village in Mandya district. The village leaders, on getting to know about the inter-caste marriage, had in the same year imposed a fine of Rs 1.25 lakh on the family and even barred them from entering the village.

The couple did not return to home and stayed in Malavalli, and earned their livelihood. However, as Shetty's mother fell ill, the couple came to Kunagalli, which irked the village leaders, who imposed another fine of Rs 3 lakh on the couple. They also instructed them to pay it before March 3.

However, this time, the couple lodged a complaint at the DYSP office and this enraged the leaders further, who increased the fine amount to Rs 6 lakh and instructed all the villagers not to talk to them or provide them any essentials from the shops in the village.

Following this complaint, Mamballi police booked a case against 15 persons. When the police questioned the accused, they denied and said that no such fine was imposed and claimed that Shetty's family members had themselves ostracised the couple. However, the police have taken up the case and are probing the matter.

Speaking to TNIE, Shetty alleged that his community members have not lifted the social boycott and they are buying groceries from shops owned by members of other communities.

"What mistake have I committed by marrying a girl from outside my caste," he asked.

First arrest in Bihar fake videos case

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

DAYS after fake news videos about attacks on migrant workers in Tamil Nadu created a scare, Bihar's anti-terrorism squad (ATS) on Monday made its first arrest in Jamui district of the state.

The arrest was based on an FIR filed against the mischief-makers. The FIR named four persons as accused, including Aman Kumar, the arrested youth in Jamui, Additional Director General of Police (ADGP) Jitendra Singh Gangwar told the media. Apart from sections of the Indian Penal Code, relevant sections of the information technology Act have been invoked against the accused.

Gangwar said a 10-member team is probing the matter, adding "all those who posted the videos and shared them on social media platforms will be arrested."

One of the videos circulated on social media was from Bihar-Jharkhand and not from Tamil Nadu as purported by the miscreants, he said. Besides, the Bihar Police has sent notices to Facebook, YouTube and Gmail asking them to save the links of the videos for about three months. The saved links will help the police get to the bottom of the whole conspiracy, he added.

Rituals at Bababudangiri: HC won't interfere with single judge's order

ENS @ Bengaluru

OBSERVING that the dispute which had arisen five decades ago needs to be put to rest in the absence of any controversy, either by members of the Hindu or Muslim communities, a division bench of the Karnataka High Court dismissed an appeal filed by the Syed Ghouse Mohiyuddin Shah Khadri against the order passed by the single judge in relation to performing of rituals at Bababudangiri in Chikkamagaluru district.

"We do not find any ground to differ with the view taken by the single judge. In the result, the appeal fails and it is hereby dismissed," said a division bench of Justices Alok Aradhe and Vijaykumar A Patil.

While quashing the government order dated March 19, 2018, the single judge on September 28, 2021, remitted back the matter to the state government to reconsider afresh in accordance with the law, without reference to the report of the high-level committee headed by Justice HN Nagamohandas.

The state government by its order rejected the report of the Endowment Commissioner and recommended the continuation of existing rituals at Bababudangiri and directed the Munawar to carry out the customs at the religious institution, even in respect of Shri Dattatreya Devaru. Khadri filed the appeal before the division bench against the order passed by the single judge, based on the petition filed by Sri Guru Dattatreya Peetha Samvardhana Samithi.

3 arrested for murder of physiotherapist

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SOLADEVANAHALLI police arrested three people who had allegedly murdered a 32-year-old physiotherapist and partially burnt the body.

The accused Veera Anjaneyulu alias Puli (38), a mason from Ananthpur district in Andhra Pradesh, Govardhran alias DJ (23) and Buddappa alias Bhaskar (46) of Ananthpur. They are accused of murdering Sridhar, who was from Penukonda and worked as a physiotherapist at a private hospital in Doddaballapura. Veera Anjaneyulu and the deceased were residents of Kondappa Layout in Yelahanka.

Police said a partially burnt, decomposed body of an unidentified man was found on agricultural land in Ganigarahalli on February 7, and the identity of the deceased was established two days later.

"The accused admitted that Sridhar and Anjaneyulu regularly met over a drink. On one such occasion about 5-6 months ago, Sridhar had hurled filthy abuses at Anjaneyulu over a trivial issue in the presence of others, and humiliated him. After that, Anjaneyulu was nursing a grudge against Sridhar who had stopped meeting him. On February 4, Anjaneyulu went to a bar and found Sridhar there. Anjaneyulu asked him out for a drink and took him to a house in Kempapura, where the trio hacked Sridhar with a machete and slit his throat. They transported the body in an auto rickshaw and burnt it on a field in Ganigarahalli," police added.

2 DALIT HOUSES SET ABLAZE IN HAVERI, NO CASUALTIES

AMIT S UPADHYE @ Haveri

IN a shocking incident, a group of about 30 people set ablaze two houses belonging to Dalit families at Nandihalli village of Ranebennur taluk in Haveri district late Sunday night. Twelve family members, who were sleeping in the two houses, had a miraculous escape as they ran for their lives after noticing the smoke, according to an eyewitness. They have now shifted to their relatives' homes in different villages.

According to initial investigations, the trouble started on Saturday evening when a religious procession was passing through a Dalit colony in the village as part of a village fair. Some youth and children from the Dalit community too joined the procession. "A section of villagers objected to the participation of the Dalits in the procession. This led to verbal altercation between the two sides. Late Sunday night, some villagers tried to set the two houses ablaze. The neighbours rushed in and doused the fire," a police officer said.

Eyewitnesses said the accused hurled burning petrol bottles and wood on the houses. CM Basavaraj Bommai's constituency Shigavvi falls in the district. A senior police officer said cases have been booked against the accused under SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989.

Police have also formed a team to nab the accused who are absconding. "We have started gathering information about the accused. We are hoping that they will surrender today or will be caught soon," the officer said.

INDIAN FOOTBALL HAS A LOT TO LEARN, NOT JUST ON THE PITCH

On Friday, something happened in Indian football that is still being heatedly debated among fans, something that defies the very tenet that sports represents. Sunil Chhetri scored an injury-time free-kick for Bengaluru FC against Kerala Blasters in an Indian Super League play-off game in Bengaluru.

The nature of the goal and what happened next spiralled into a controversy that overshadowed everything else in Indian football since, including a memorable Santosh Trophy victory for Karnataka. With the score goalless and the knockout game heading into extra-time, Chhetri stood over the ball while the Blasters keeper Prabhsukhan Gill organised his wall. Then, with everyone else distracted, the forward attempted an audacious chip that ended up in the empty net. The players in yellow were incensed when the referee allowed it. Their coach, Ivan Vukomanovic, took it one step further, ordering his players off the field. The match ended with more than 20 minutes still left to play. The result section read forfeited.

The incident and the reaction to it show that Indian football has a lot to learn, and not just in terms of footballing quality. First, there is no doubt that the root cause of such a controversy is some poor officiating by referee Crystal John, who allowed the match to get out of control at a crucial stage. While a quick free-kick is permitted in football, the norm is that the opposition has every right to block it. At the Kanteerava Stadium, though, John appeared to ask a Blasters player to step away from Chhetri's path. Second, there is no excuse for Vukomanovic's act. While refereeing has been a constant headache in Indian football, refusing to continue a match signals a general lack of respect for the game. It is considered blasphemy.

Third, the reaction of some supporters after the game was to hurl abuse and vitriol towards Chhetri and his family. No player, let alone one of Chhetri's stature, should have to go through that for anything that happened on the pitch. The biggest measure of any country's success in football is always the result on the pitch. But unless the whole footballing ecosystem grows along with the quality on the field, any such success will ring hollow. Referees, club coaches or fans, everyone is a part of that ecosystem. And if this incident shows anything, it is that there still has to be all-around growth.

RADICAL MINDSET CHANGE A MUST TO STOP SUICIDES

It is always painful to read reports of suicide, let alone that of students as young as 16 or below. If we can spare a thought, the untimely death of one means the shattered lives of their family and friends who will carry a lifelong emotional wound that can only be concealed or healed to an extent but never really forgotten. Two students recently took the extreme step in Telangana, shaking the collective conscience of the society.

One of them, Dr Preethi, who had a promising life ahead, ended her life, unable to bear harassment by a senior at her medical college. The other, a boy aged just 16, felt there was no escape from the torture at his college. Yes, these cases are yet to be proven in a court of law to bring those responsible to justice. Prima facie, however, the reasons for the deaths are obvious. The government and police have initiated measures to curb ragging and are debating the culture at the so-called corporate colleges. It is not that we don't have laws, rules and helplines in place to address the issue. Yet, why is it that student suicides have become a regular phenomenon across the country—from even schools to institutes of higher learning? If we take NCRB data, of all the accidental deaths and suicides in the country, students account for around 8%. And we should note that this is not even an accurate picture.

What could we possibly do to stem the tide? Referring to the suicide of a Dalit student at IIT Bombay, Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud decried discrimination against marginalised communities and hit the nail on the head when he observed that it is directly linked to the lack of empathy in educational institutions. We cannot agree more. Whether it is Darshan Solanki at IIT Bombay, Dr Preethi at the Kakatiya Medical College, or the 16-year-old college student, the utter lack of sympathy and empathy led to their suicides. The blame is equally on the institutions, faculty, regulators and, ultimately, our society. A solution to this silent pandemic lies in a holistic approach aimed at bringing about a cultural shift in the way we look at education. Any such change must begin from the ground up, from parents and teachers. Governments have the responsibility to enforce the law, launch a massive public awareness campaign and act against unbridled commercialisation and discrimination. Until this happens, we will continue to lose precious lives.

QUICK TAKE

INTERNET ACCESS AND DEMOCRACY

Nearly half of the world's internet shutdowns last year were reportedly recorded in India, the maximum in J&K. The government can claim justifiable cause because terrorists use internet as propaganda and operational tools. But the caveat is internet access is intrinsic to a functional democracy with a human rights agenda. Also, frequent shutdowns can push people towards options like VPNs, private servers or mesh networks, which end up denting government efforts. Internet access cannot be trivialised either, like Rajasthan did recently by stopping it to prevent cheating in an exam. It could well have disallowed cell phones inside examination centres.

The two G20 meetings in India reflected that the Ukraine war is unlikely to come to a quick end. Even if it does, a ceasefire by itself will hardly be sufficient

G20 GEOPOLITICS AND ITS MANY COMPLEXITIES

LT GEN SYED ATA HASNAIN (RETD)

Former Commander, Srinagar-based 15 Corps. Now Chancellor, Central University

SOURAV ROY

The Government of India's national portal describes the Group of 20 (G20) as—"the premier intergovernmental forum for international economic cooperation. The forum plays an important role in shaping and strengthening global architecture and governance on all major international economic issues." That is as near-perfect an understanding of the goals of the G20 as possible. G20 is essentially about economics and development and all that is internationally connected with these. Consensus on macro issues is possible, but much gets mired in the intricacies of many micro issues between the developed and the underdeveloped worlds.

Unfortunately, it also includes geopolitics, which isn't something conducive to consensus. Geopolitical issues have marred two major events of the G20, which were to set the stage for the summit in September 2023 under India's chairmanship. These are the Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors (FMCBG) meeting in Bengaluru, and the Foreign Ministers' Meeting in New Delhi; both, held in the last fortnight, did not end with the traditional joint statements. There appears to be a speculative judgement that India, in its capacity as the G20 Chair, could not swing the joint statements. The label of success or lack of it in the context of today's challenging times is a misnomer; the complexities are both vast and contentious. A broader understanding of the geopolitical environment in the context of the larger G20 agenda may help explain the inevitable grey zone.

We have just emerged from a pandemic, which has shaken the best of the world. No nation remained completely unaffected. Economies have been shattered, and nations are struggling to seek more economic stability. The almost three years of the pandemic also encompassed geopolitical turbulence, which shook the traditional formulations. Additionally, the war in Ukraine got triggered with no clarity of likely outcomes and length of the period of hostilities. There are ambitious aspirations among the big powers which appear to be taking the world on a contentious path of confrontation, as against the convergence of interests in 1989 when the Cold War ended.

Ukraine is the grain bowl for many food-deficient countries, and being at war affects their food security. The war has severely affected the energy and food security of even rich nations, thus placing the international community under considerable strain. The US withdrawal from Afghanistan has opened up different opportunities for various countries. The Central Asian region has become much more vulnerable, with Russia and China concerned about the flow of extremist ideologies in their border regions. The most turbulent of regions, the Middle East, quiet for some time now, seems to be coming alive again. Nations have interdependencies for their economic progress, assured resources and markets. When these get disturbed, it is geopolitics which comes to the fore.

Geopolitics prevented a joint statement, but both events held in India ended with a Chair's Summary and Outcome Document each. The Chair's Summary and Outcome Document of the G20 FMCBG was a significant achievement by G20 under India's presidency on a wide variety of subjects, ranging from the global debt crisis, multilateral development bank (MDB) reforms, climate finance, global approach on cryptos, digital public infrastructure, financial inclusion, financing cities of tomorrow, and taxation. Only a joint statement to show consensus remained elusive. This is by no means a failure of diplomacy on the part of India. In fact, in the backdrop of a massive conventional war which is an outcome of the unfinished process of the Cold War, none could have expected consensus, even in the domain of economics, which has such intricate connections with resources, trade, manufacturing, markets and consumption; all in turn connected to the geopolitical environment.

The Foreign Ministers' Meeting also resulted in a Chair Summary with an Outcome Document. Here, it was more understandable. It focused on the softer aspects, expressing the need for a strong sentiment to expand multilateralism and the essentiality of reforms at the United Nations.

As an essential stakeholder in both, India needed to project this. Also included were the important principles of international development cooperation, such as host country ownership, equal partnerships and tailoring these for local needs. It also stressed the need for reliable food, fertilisers, and energy supply chains—one of India's key focus areas in the past few months. The document brings out the need for an initiative in global skill mapping. It reiterates the need for developed nations to come together to provide the $100 billion required for green financing every year, which is mandated till 2025.

Through the Sherpa Track, 13 Working Groups and two initiatives will meet under India's presidency to discuss priorities and provide recommendations. Besides this, the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) has been designated as the Business 20 (B20) Secretariat for India's G20 presidency. B20 India will host a series of discussions and policy advocacy forums across India, covering the identified industry priorities, aiming to realise the B20 strategic vision and translate it into concrete and actionable policy recommendations.

Except for the issues concerning the war in Ukraine, all aspects of the G20 agenda appear to be well flagged and emphasised. Anticipating the problem of obtaining consensus, Prime Minister Narendra Modi adopted a strategy to focus on "what unites, not what divides". He stated that India chose the theme of 'One Earth, One Family, One Future' for its G20 presidency to signal the need for unity of purpose and the unity of action.

The warring sides had arrived in New Delhi in the backdrop of Ukraine's dynamic and fast-changing military environment. With hardcore information warfare rife, it has been difficult for anyone to know the actual situation and how it will progress. This war has been fought with more uncertainty than what is associated with most conventional wars. Russian Foreign Minister Lavrov appeared confident and even aggressive, probably anticipating a military victory in the near future. The two G20 meetings in India reflected that this war is unlikely to come to a quick end. Even if it does, a ceasefire by itself will hardly be sufficient. The larger standoff between NATO and Russia will probably flow into an intense cold war with Russia and China ensconced in one camp and various combinations lined against them.

It can't get more complex, but India has done a fine job under the circumstances. Such events are judged not only by joint statements but also by the many connections that emerge and allow for fresh thinking.

'FAMILY' IN INDIAN FAMILY BUSINESSES IS KEY TO GROWTH

TULSI JAYAKUMAR

Executive Director, Centre for Family Business & Entrepreneurship. Professor, Finance & Economics at Bhavan's SPJIMR

India's growth story crucially hinges on the performance of its family businesses, which constitute more than 75% of Indian businesses. Indeed, family businesses are the predominant organisational forms of business across the world, and India has the third largest number of family businesses globally. A crucial challenge is the generational shift these businesses are likely to undergo in the next five to seven years, even as the senior generation which entered the business in the late 1980s to early 1990s retires, handing over the reins to the next generation.

We conducted a study called India: State of the Family Business Report, over the period May 2022–October 2022, with a sample comprising 350 family businesses from across India. Most businesses studied were small and medium family firms. More than 80% of the businesses continue to have the founders playing an active role in the family business. We found that about 75% of them have experienced the induction of a next-gen member and are now second-gen businesses. The senior gen, however, continues to exert a crucial, executive role.

In terms of generation dynamics, small does not seem to be beautiful. Micro enterprises continue to be largely founder-driven. It is the larger family businesses which have a greater involvement of the generations beyond Gen 2. Again, small size is also inimical to organised employment. Thus, while medium and large family businesses reported employing between 101–250 regular employees and 51–100 contractual employees, a majority of the micro and small enterprises reported employing less than 50 employees.

We studied the business performance of these 350 enterprises for the fiscal year 2021–22. A majority of the family businesses reported stable or improved performance across various metrics of business performance, including sales, market share, profitability, Return on Assets, Return on Equity, profit margin on sales, besides number of people employed. This would be in line with the provisional estimates released by the National Statistical Office (NSO), which reported that the Indian economy had fully recovered to its pre-pandemic levels of 2019–20, and the real GDP growth rate stood at 8.7% in 2021–2022. Most of the enterprises surveyed reported a better performance on these metrics in relative terms as well, i.e., compared to their competitors in the past three years. This indicates positive business sentiments.

We studied one-year-ahead business expectations of these businesses. While a majority of the family enterprises reported expectations of cost increases in terms of both raw materials and labour, they also reported expectations of higher sales and adoption of technology. It appears thus that family businesses have done well and this has also resulted in optimism regarding the state of the business in the coming year.

> Family businesses will need to put their families in order, so that they can reap the benefits of an improving business environment and continue to contribute to the Indian economy

It is, however, in terms of the state of the family that family businesses seem to be floundering. The top family challenges faced include: Lack of a clear successor/succession plan; lack of clearly defined and/or written roles and responsibilities for all family managers, including women; lack of a conflict resolution mechanism within the family business; lack of a retirement age for the senior generation and a roadmap for the next generation's induction into a leadership role; and lack of a family constitution.

While these family businesses are governed by clear values and a code of conduct, there seems to be lesser attention paid to critical aspects such as family governance and succession planning. This is manifested in succession timing being not clearly defined despite there being an intent to hand over the business to the next-gen member, and a reluctance to let go due to the perceived inability of the next generation or their lack of interest in the business.

A majority of family enterprises seem to equate leadership with the possession of business, especially marketing abilities, and state such abilities as critical when considering succession. The ability to lead and manage people, to plan and execute and be technologically savvy—are reported by a small proportion of family enterprises.

Family businesses are well known to operate keeping in mind both business (economic) goals, adding to the family's financial wealth, and non-economic goals which add to the family's socio-emotional wealth. The tradeoffs between economic and non-economic goals are likely to be even more stark in the case of small family businesses, which face greater vulnerability to the vicissitudes brought about by natural and other factors.

Our study reveals the contradictions that family businesses are likely to face even as the next generation takes over the reins of business. Family businesses will face greater headwinds from the family side than from the business side, with issues of succession and governance looming large and threatening their business performance. Indian family businesses will need to put their families in order, so that they can reap the benefits of an improving business environment and continue to contribute to the Indian economy.

With the senior gen not wanting to let go, it might drive away the talented and independent among the next gen. Management schools and consultants will need to train the senior family members in the importance of "letting go" to preserve the family business they have invested so much in. Transgenerational entrepreneurship can be fostered only by paying sufficient attention to family dynamics.

Prahlad, a great bhakt

Apropos of The power of Prahlad's unflinching devotion (Mar 6). I am an 80-year-old fan of Faithline and look forward to the columnist's interesting storytelling. 'Kathai Sollal' is a very attractive way to reach out to people who don't have the time to read such epics on their own. The writer has written about Prahalada, the bhakthan who is often compared to Anjaneya and Dhruva in their steadfast devotion to the Lord. Of all the avatarams, Narasimha is the most compassionate and the most fascinating.

A relatable episode

The Prahlad story, somehow, is more relatable today! The Hiranyas won't learn lessons till the fiery avatar awakens. Enjoyed the read.

Proper training a must

Apropos of the editorial Firecracker unit blast a wake-up call (Mar 6) and news report Woman killed, eight injured in TN's Cuddalore firecracker unit blast (Mar 6). The editorial's wake-up call that authorities should be more vigilant is timely and applies to TN as well. Most accidents are perhaps the result of improper training of unskilled workers in handling explosive chemicals. They must be trained to avoid such accidents.

Authorities responsible

Apropos of Firecracker unit blast a wake-up call (Mar 6). The authorities should take responsibility for not fulfilling their duty. They should monitor the safety precautions followed by the industries and cease the industries functioning under illegal licences.

Uniform Civil Code needed

Apropos of Muslim couple to remarry for daughter's sake (Mar 6). As per Muslim Personal Law, Shukkur's daughters will inherit two-thirds of his property and the rest will be inherited by his brothers as he lacked male progeny. Such occurrences reinforce the need for a Uniform Civil Code in this country.

Opposition's guilt shows

Apropos of Past and present taint keeps opposition divided (Mar 5). It is a fact that the central agencies are after the opposition leaders. But what surprises the common man are the counter questions posed by them: Why are the BJP leaders not raided? Are they honest? The opposition's feeble murmurs are confirming their guilt.

'Women are burdened, time-stretched, unpaid'

Policymakers, researchers & civil society need to work, says Namrata Chindarkar of JSW School of Public Policy at IIM-A

Women are more time-burdened and time-stretched and unpaid. Women spend more active engagement hours and more likely to be engaging in multiple activities and less in leisure, Namrata Chindarkar, Associate Professor and Chairperson at the JSW School of Public Policy at IIM Ahmedabad, analysed in a study titled, 'Gendered Patterns of Time Poverty in India: Evidence from a Nationwide Time Use Survey'. She tells Jitendra Choubey that NSSO's Time Use Survey does not count cognitive burdens borne by both women and men in the household.

How did you calculate and arrive at this data that say women spend 7.2 hours on unpaid work, while men spend 2.8 hours? Please explain your calculation and data source.

The analysis reveals that women in the working-age category (15-65 years) spend six hours on unpaid domestic work compared to 1.8 hours by men, indicating disproportionate distribution of domestic work. If we add time spent on collecting fuel-wood for the household (which is a separate home production activity) to unpaid domestic work, women spend 7.2 hours on average on these activities compared to 2.8 hours spent by men.

Your research shows women spend lesser time in agriculture work. Does this survey counts only agricultural field work and not livestock care work which is mostly done by women?

Agricultural work in our calculations refers to only "paid" agricultural work. Livestock care is characterised under a category that NSS defined as "own household production".

Looking at the own household production, men on average spend 210 minutes in comparison to an average of 133 minutes for women. This is largely because of various activities, which are included in this category, many being male dominant such as household maintenance, woodworking, travelling long distances for raw materials and so on.

The data file has all the activities listed under "home/self production" category. The distinction between paid and unpaid work is very simple in the TUS survey.

Any work, irrespective of the category, that has an associated legal pay is characterised under "paid activity". All other activities are characterised as "unpaid". With this definition, the same activity can be classified as either paid or unpaid.

Data show that paid and unpaid activities of male are 553.12 minutes and female is 643.72 minutes. It shows female is more active than men. Even women have lesser leisure time than women. What does it explain?

Yes, women are more time-burdened and time-stretched. Global literature concurs with our findings that women are more likely to not just be spending more active engagement hours but also are more likely to be engaging in multiple activities.

This results in lack of self-care and leisure time. This can potentially explain two aspects in society. First, since women are already stretched, balancing home and work life in comparison to men, they are less likely to join the labour force. This reconciles the decreasing participation rate for women over the past decade. Second, it perpetuates the social norms in society that continues to put the burden of household/domestic labour on women. It signifies a lack of autonomy over time.

Your research shows wage-earning men are 72 per cent more likely to overwork than wage-earning women. Does it justify women's long hours of work in the house and men's in the workplace?

No. Of course, it does not justify long hours at work or doing unpaid work. The point here was to highlight that even men are time poor if we use different measures of time poverty.

It should be re-emphasised that "overwork" as a measure of time poverty is applicable only to wage-earning individuals. It captures the time spent on the wage-earning activity only.

Overwork can explain the boundaries that many households draw in responsibilities between the genders. Men's domain of responsibility is supposed to be the workplace.

In many workplaces, working long hours are expected from the employees and since more men are in the formal employment sector, we observe more overwork among men.

Will we consider compensating women for their unpaid work hours in the near future? If yes, then what would be the mechanism?

These are two different questions – accounting for unpaid work in our national accounts and compensating women for their unpaid work. There is a lot of work including by ILO and UN Economic Commission for Europe (UNECE) on methods for valuing unpaid work and accounting for it in the national accounts.

Accounting for unpaid work is a multi-step process where each activity that is conducted in the household needs to be identified, operationalised and valuated (in monetary terms).

Identification and operationalisation are possible only with detailed time use survey.

As for the second part of question regarding compensating women for unpaid work, it will take a lot of coordinated work between policymakers, researchers and civil society to design such a mechanism – which activities, what wage rate, what will be the implications on intra-household expenditures and dynamics, how will it be enforcement – a lot needs to be thought through.

PM Narendra Modi chairs a meeting in New Delhi on Monday to review preparedness for the predicted hot summer season ahead | PTI

Harsh summer ahead? PM chairs high-level meet

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

Minister Narendra Modi on Monday chaired a high-level meeting with different ministries and agencies to review the country's preparedness to deal with the hot weather conditions forecast by India Meteorological Department's (IMD).

The IMD forecast for the next few months has stated that the maximum and the minimum temperatures will be hovering above normal. The high temperature is likely result in health issues besides impacting the country's food security.

The principal secretary to the PM, Cabinet secretary, home secretary and secretaries to Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, Ministry of Agriculture & Farmer Welfare, Ministry of Earth Sciences attended the meeting. Besides, Member Secretary, National Disaster Management Authority, participated in the meeting.

The IMD has forecast that this summer would be hotter than last year, especially in northern India. North India will not get any relief from heat and heat waves in the coming months, it said. The above-the-normal maximum and minimum temperatures in the region may cause health hazards.

The country had witnessed the hottest February since 1901. The average maximum temperature across the country in February increased to 29.5°C; the fifth highest averaged minimum temperatures increased to 16.3 °C in the last 123 years, which alarmed the meteorologists. The forecast for the coming months (March to May) doesn't give a positive outlook on the country's food security and people's health. Its impact is visible on all sorts of rabi crops in the field. This reporter spoke to farmers of different states and learned that the high temperature would impact animal fodder and productivity of their rabi crops, especially wheat, mustard, pulses and horticulture crops such as mangoes.

The Prime Minister has instructed that availability of fodder and of water in reservoirs should be tracked.

The Food Corporation of India has also been directed to ensure optimal storage of grains in extreme weather conditions. The Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MoHFW) has advised the state governments to take appropriate action on health-related issues.

It directed the state government and Union Territories to conduct daily surveillance on heat-related illnesses under National Programme on Climate Change and Human Health (NPCCHH) from March 1.

Prime Minister Modi has emphasised on awareness programmes targeting different stakeholders, including citizens, medical professionals, municipal and panchayat authorities and disaster response teams like firefighters. He also asked IMD to issue daily weather forecasts in a manner which can be easily interpreted and disseminated. It would create awareness and allow citizens to take necessary precautions.

WAR OF WORDS

BJP ideology 'cowardice', says Rahul; draws Thakur flak

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi, in a fresh attack on the BJP, has said that the ruling party follows "an ideology of hatred and violence", and at the heart of their ideology is "cowardice." Gandhi made the remarks during his interaction with the Indian diaspora organised by the Indian Overseas Congress (IOC) UK chapter on Sunday while referring to External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar's remarks on China during an interview.

Referring to the BJP, the 52-year-old former Congress president said they have "an ideology of hatred and violence, a disrespectful ideology that attacks people because of their ideas. And you must have noticed one thing that this is in the nature of BJP and the RSS." BJP senior leader and union minister Anurag Thakur on Monday said, "Gandhi is betraying India", alleged. Thakur accused Rahul Gandhi of seeking intervention from the US and European nations over "disappearing" democracy in India. In a scathing attack on the Congress leader,

Speaking to the reporters here on Monday, the minister said, "Rahul Gandhi never misses a chance to malign and betray India whenever he goes on a foreign tour. His objections to India's foreign policy are a clear evidence of his lack of understanding and scant regard on the issue. No one will believe his lies against India from the foreign soil," Thakur remarked.

Armies of India, France to hold joint exercise on tactical coordination

New Delhi: The maiden joint military exercise 'Frinjex-23' to be held between the Indian Army and French Army at Pangode Military Station, Thiruvananthapuram, on March 7-8 will see a new format. The Indian Army said in a statement, "It is for the first time armies of both the nations are engaging in this format with each contingent comprising of a Company Group each from the T'puram-based Indian Army troops and French 6th Light Armoured Brigade."

'Capable to take over ops from Army in Valley'

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

AMID reports that the central government was considering phased-withdrawal of Army from some parts of militancy-hit Kashmir, a top Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) officer on Monday said that if the paramilitary force is tasked to do so, it is is fully equipped and capable of taking the lead role in counter-insurgency operations in Kashmir.

Talking exclusively to this newspaper, IG CRPF Kashmir (operations) MS Bhatia said the force has 100 per cent capability to take over counter insurgency operations in the Valley.

"We are the operational force. We have the technology, armoury, training, morale and equipment. We are the oldest paramilitary force in the country. And we have worked in counter insurgency situations all over the country including the Maoists theatre and the North East. We have been in the Valley since the 1990s," Bhatia said.

Bullet-proof vehicles, wall-through radars and drones are some of the new gadgets inducted by the force into its counter-insurgency operations in Kashmir, leading to precision-based actions against terrorists.

IG CRPF Kashmir (operations) MS Bhatia | ZAHOOR PUNJABI

"We have the grounding as well as the training and the capabilities to tackle any internal security scenario challenges. I have no doubt that we can take up that mantle whenever it is given to us," the IG CRPF said.

At present 48 CRPF battalions are deployed for operational purposes in the Valley. Of them 22 battalions are deployed in central Kashmir covering Srinagar, Budgam and Ganderbal districts while 17 are deployed in south Kashmir covering four districts and nine battalions are based in north Kashmir covering three districts. There are reports that centre is considering phased withdrawal of army from some areas of Jammu and Kashmir including from hinterland in militancy-hit Valley in view of drop in militancy violence and improvement in law and order and ground situation.

Asked whether CRPF was ready to replace Army in the Valley, IG CRPF said, "This decision has to be taken by Government of India. All the security forces and security agencies here are working on behalf of GoI. A lot of good synergy is happening. And a lot of good teamwork is happening".

"Whatever mandate we have right now we make sure that we do it with our full vigour and full force. And in future also if any additional responsibility of new mandate is given to the force, we will make sure that we will live upto that mandate," he said. Bhatia, however, said it has to be decided at the highest level and "we will abide by whatever decision is taken."

Saha gets his second shot at Tripura chief ministership

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

MANIK Saha will continue as the chief minister of Tripura, as first reported by this newspaper on March 5.

The BJP was divided into two camps with each backing Saha and Union minister Pratima Bhaumik for the top post but the suspense was over when Bhaumik herself proposed the Saha's name as the legislature party leader. Assam minister Parimal Suklabaidya, who was the BJP's central observer in the meeting, later announced Saha's election as the legislature party leader.

Saha, then, met Governor Satyadeo Narain Arya at Raj Bhavan to stake his claim to form the government. Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union home minister Amit Shah and BJP president J P Nadda will attend the swearing-in ceremony on Wednesday, BJP sources said.

In Nagaland and Meghalaya, Neiphiu Rio and Conrad K Sangma will be sworn as chief ministers on Tuesday.

Meghalaya witnessed a dramatic turn in the numbers game after the results were declared. The strength of the National People's Party-BJP combine in the 60-member House rose to 45 after the United Democratic Party (UDP) and the People's Democratic Front lent their support.

Since there can be a maximum of 12 ministers, the NPP, which won 26 seats, will keep eight. The UDP (11 MLAs) will get two while BJP (2 MLAs) and HSPDP (2 MLAs) will get one each, Sangma said.

Coastal-port connectivity is vital: Gadkari

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE highway connecting the north-southern corridor and Cochin Port, developed at a cost ₹571 crore, has enhanced the mobility of eight seashore villages and has significantly contributed to the socio-economic development of the region, Union road transport and highways minister Nitin Gadkari has said. About 8.7km-long stretch, built on reclaimed land, passes through the backwaters of Arabian Sea.

The minister in a series of tweets said coastal and port connectivity infrastructure plays a pivotal role in a nation's economic growth. In Kerala, a four-lane NH has been developed at a total cost of ₹571 crores to connect International Container Transhipment Terminal (Vallarpadam) with Kalamassery and it links the North-South Corridor for freight movement to Cochin Port, he said. In separate tweets, he informed about construction of a 14.71km-long four-lane highway from Dimapur to Kohima at estimated cost of ₹339.55 crore.

Probe sought into 'gross irregularities' in appointment of NGT employees

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

A complaint alleging 'irregularities' in the appointment and shortlisting of clerical staff at the National Green Tribunal (NGT) has been filed with the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEFCC), the Central Vigilance Commission (CVC) and the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) demanding an investigation into the issue.

Gaurav Bansal, an advocate, filed the complaint on March 4, 2023, demanding a probe into the appointment of candidates for the post of judicial assistant, stenographer Grade 1 and staff car driver. In his complaint, Bansal said that the NGT had published an advertisement on July 7, 2022 to fill vacancies for these posts, in which only essential and desirable qualifications for the candidates were mentioned. The NGT received multiple applications in response. However, on December 23, 2022, the NGT made certain amendments, adding the column 'experience' in the advertisement, and re-published it, he said.

"They suddenly introduced 'experience' to their requirement when they had already received n-number of applications," says Bansal.

He said the NGT introduced 'experience of 3-months and above' for staff car drivers and '3-years and above' for Judicial Assistant post. However, for other posts like Hindi translator, librarian, stenographer etc., no amendments were made. On February 14, 2023, the NGT declared the result and selected two candidates for the post of Assistant (Judicial) post under General Category. For other positions, they shortlisted the candidates. In the complaint, Bansal alleged anomalies in the process of shortlisting of candidates. The NGT's selection committee had also shortlisted some candidates for the posts of Stenographer Grade-1 and staff car driver who couldn't be eligible per the criteria laid down by the NGT, he alleged. "The NGT set the 'age limit' for the stenographer and car driver as 'between 21 and 30 years' and 'between 18 and 27 years' respectively. In disregard to its set criteria for the post of Stenographer Grade 1, the Selection Committee shortlisted one whose age was around 47 years," the lawyer alleged.

UNDER THE LENS

- A complaint filed with Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEFCC), the Central Vigilance Commission (CVC) and the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI).
- It alleges irregularities in the process to select candidates to the posts of Judicial Assistant, Stenographer Grade 1 and Staff Car Driver.
- The complainant has alleged that an advertisement for filling the vacancies were tweaked after multiple applications had already been received.

C'garh budget: Agri, youth in focus

In poll year, Bhupesh Baghel announces unemployment allowance of ₹2,500 per month

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THE Bhupesh Baghel government on Monday presented the last budget of the outgoing Assembly, highlighting its motto 'Gadhbo Nava Chhattisgarh' (build a new Chhattisgarh).

Chief minister Bhupesh Baghel, who also holds the finance portfolio, kept agriculture and rural sector in mind even as he announced unemployment allowance for the jobless educated youth in the state. He termed the budget as 'Bharose ka Budget'.

For financial year 2023-24, the total outlay is ₹121,501 crore, 16.83 per cent more than that estimated budget receipts of last year. The budget has provisions of ₹6,800 crore for flagship scheme Rajiv Gandhi Kisan Nyay Yojana which, Baghel says, has turned Chhattisgarh, known as 'Dhaan Ka Katora'.(rice bowl) to the 'Dhan Ka Katora' (money bowl).

There is no fresh tax proposal for the upcoming financial year. On the lines of the BJP-led Centre, the Congress government in Chhattisgarh will organise 'International Ramayana Festival' every year and the budget has earmarked ₹12 crore for the event.

S. No	Particulars	Amount (Rs in crore)
1.	Total Receipts	1,21,501
2.	Total Expenditure	1,21,500
3.	Total Fiscal Deficit	15,200 (2.99 % of GSDP)

● There is no fresh tax proposal for the upcoming financial year

A new scheme will be launched to provide an 'unemployment allowance' of ₹2,500 per month, with a Budget provision for ₹250 crore. Giving a monthly allowance to the unemployed youth was one of the key pledges that the Congress party made ahead of the 2018 Assembly polls.

"I have attempted to incorporate most of the demands and feedback gathered during my ongoing public interaction (Bhent-Mulakat) statewide tour covering the 90-Assembly constituencies," said Baghel.

In an election year, the budget talks about increasing the income of farmers, agricultural labourers, economically weaker sections, overall development of villagers, unprecedented expansion of health and medical facilities, besides the creation of new opportunities of employment entrepreneurship through quality training to youth and multi-dimensional development of rural and urban infrastructure.

BJP national vice-president and former CM Raman Singh dubbed the new budget as "deceptive and farce" keeping an eye on the forthcoming polls. Attacking the Baghel government, he said the promises made in the Congress manifesto have been ignored.

Baghel announced a provision of ₹1,000 crore for various infrastructure construction works in urban areas. He claimed that owing to prudent fiscal management practices during the last three years, the state has not yet taken market loans in 2022-23 and the state's own revenue is estimated to increase by 26 per cent.

Among the departments, the school education department gets the highest allocation at ₹19,489 crore, followed by ₹10,329 crore for panchayat and rural development, and ₹10,070 crore for agriculture development and farmers' welfare.

The budget laid a provision of ₹25 crore for organising Chhattisgarhiya Olympics based on traditional sports and games. Under the school education and higher education, provision of ₹400 crore is made for World Bank funded CHALK while ₹500 crore is earmarked for Mukhyamantri School Jatan Yojana.

Farmer sets onion crop afire as crisis deepens in Maha

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

EVEN as people across the nation celebrate Holi, during which the ritual of Holika Dahan symbolises setting evil afire, a Maharashtra onion farmer was forced to resort to set his crop on fire as a mark of protest against the skewed policies of the BJP-led Central and state governments.

A viral video on social media showed Krishna Dongre, a farmer from Mathulthan village in Yeola taluka, burning his onion crop cultivated on one-and-half acre of land. He had even got an invitation card announcing the agitation printed.

"The Union and state governments have left the farmers to their fate. In their lust for power, they don't care whether the farmer survives or dies. This is a black day not only for Maharashtra but also for the nation as a farmer has been forced to destroy his own crop," Dongre said, blaming the govt policies for the low prices of onions which has sparked the present crisis in Maharashtra.

The price of onions has plunged to ₹2 per kg in the market, sparking massive resentment among the farmers. Scores of them are burning their crops, dumping the onions in the market for free and throwing it on roads.

"If this issue is not sorted, then the farmers' anger may spiral out of control," said Sanjay Patil, a farmer

Farmers courier onions to PM in protest

A group of farmers from Ahmednagar in Maharashtra have sent onions by post to Prime Minister Narendra Modi seeking relief from dropping prices and lifting of the ban on export of the crop. An onion consignment has been parcelled to the prime minister, farmers belonging to Shetkari Sanghatana and Shetkari Vikas Mandal said on Monday, adding that they demand the ban must be lifted.

CBI says Rabri fixed her own questioning

CBI, which was under attack from RJD leaders and workers for questioning former chief minister Rabri Devi in the alleged land-for-job scam, after finishing its task disclosed Rabri herself had fixed the date for questioning. The CBI officials statement came as a surprise, particularly for those RJD leaders crying foul over the questioning. Although there were reports that Rabri was co-operating with CBI officials, the officials' revelation may help bring down the curtain on the entire episode. Her son and deputy chief minister Tejashwi Yadav, however, jibed the CBI frequent vists to their residence.

RJD minister attacks Centre on Agniveer

Bihar cooperative department minister and senior RJD minister Surendra Yadav started a controversy by calling Agniveers 'Hijro Ki Fauz' recently. The minister was, in fact, not targeting the job seekers but the Central government which decided to make appointment of soldiers for a limited period in Army. Yadav said that the country will have an Amry of eunuchs after eight and half years. Taking a shot at minister's remark, BJP said that it only demonstrated the minister's mental instablity. "Even people from Nepal joined our Army and formed Gurkha units," they said.

Need panel for alliance coordination: CPI-ML

The demand for setting up coordination committee of grand alliance in Bihar is growing over the time. Close on the heels of Congress' demand for setting up coordination committee, CPI-ML raised the issue at its meeting held in the state capital recently. The Left party stressed the need of coordination committee to discuss certain issues related to grand alliance, which consisted of seven parties. The same demand was earlier made by HAM chief and former CM Jitan Ram Manjhi. CM Nitish Kumar and his deputy Tejashwi Yadav, however, have maintained silence.

MP SCHOOL

An attempt to save accused: NCPCR chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

JUST a day after four staff members of a residential missionary school in tribal dominated Dindori district were booked by local police for physically torturing and molesting girl students, the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) chairperson Priyank Kanoongo accused a Gondwana Gantantra Party (GGP) leader of attempting to save the accused.

While tweeting over the issue, the NCPCR chairman also accused the GGP leader Radheyshyam Kokadia of not only trying to build pressure on local administration for saving the accused, but also threatening the head of the Dindori district child welfare committee (CWC), who was part of the team, which had inspected the concerned residential school in Junwani village on Saturday.

Meanwhile, the GGP leader Radheyshyam Kokadia, while defending his statements in favour of the accused in the matter, alleged that registration of case against the school's staff and taking the girls from there to child care centre, is part of planned conspiracy of BJP-RSS to close the concerned school and deprive tribal children of quality education.

Yogi reaches out to students, gives laptops to meritorious school girls

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

WHILE distributing laptops to 82 beneficiaries of Mukhyamantri Bal Seva Yojana, presenting prize money to meritorious girl students and sports kits to 20 Mahila Mangal Dals under the Beti Bachao-Beti Padhao Yojana, UP CM Yogi Adityanath, on Monday, claimed that sensitive approach of governance was strengthening the social dynamics in Uttar Pradesh.

He attributed the change to initiatives like Mukhyamantri Bal Sewa Yojana and Beti Bachao-Beti Padhao Scheme. Embarking upon a four-day visit to his constituency Gorakhpur, CM Yogi said that the state government commenced the Mukhyamantri Bal Seva Yojana for all those children who had lost either or both of their parents during the pandemic.

Under Mukhyamantri Bal Seva Yojana, ₹4,000 per month is given as scholarship to those children whose parents, either one or both, died due to the pandemic while ₹2,500 per month is given to those children of general category who lost their parents due to other reasons during the pandemic. Under this scheme, the state government has added a new feature under which laptops are given to the students studying in class 9th or above.

> No one can fill the void created by the loss of parents but life is all about moving ahead. Make the help being extended by the government a tool to gather your life and move ahead
>
> Yogi Adityanath, UP CM

Encouraging the children to forget those trying times and move forward for starting the life afresh, CM Yogi said it was imperative to move forward. "Though no one can ever fill the void created by the loss of parents but life is all about moving ahead. Make the help being extended by the government a tool to gather your life and move ahead with courage," said the CM. The CM said that 'Beti Bachao-Beti Padhao' scheme was helpful in making the daughters strong.

India bound by '94 Parliament resolution to reclaim PoK: L-G

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

WITH Pakistan facing worst economic and political crisis, J&K Lt Governor Manoj Sinha on Monday said PoK was an integral part of India and with the blessings of Vaishno Devi and Amarnath, the 1994 parliament resolution on reclaiming PoK from Pakistan would be fulfilled soon.

"The whole country knows that India is determined and bound by the 1994 parliament resolution on reclaiming of PoK (from Pakistan)" Lt Governor Sinha said after inaugurating LG's Special Governance Camp for Displaced Persons of PoK in Jammu today.

Indirectly asking people to have faith in the government on the issue, he said, "Nobody had thought about what had happened on August 5, 2019 (scrapping of J&K's special status and bifurcation of J&K state into two UTs)."

"I think with the blessings of Mata Vaishno Devi and Amarath you would soon see that the commitments made in parliament regarding reclaiming PoK from Pakistan will be fulfilled. I think you can see that day in your life with the vision you have come here," he said.

Asserting that PoK is an integral part of India, Sinha said, "I want to reiterate that PoK is an integral part of India and it will always remain so. No power on earth can separate it from us. I have no doubt that one day the dream of Akhand Bharat will be definitely realised".

He said development of new J&K is incomplete without complete integration of PoK Displaced Persons in the mainstream development. "We are committed to ensuring the welfare and well-being of all so they can realize their true potential & contribute in nation building."

The Lt Governor announced that steps would be taken to regularize the colonies of displaced families.

About 33,600 families of PoK and Chamb, he said, were provided one-time central assistance of over ₹1,552 crores announced in November 2015.

"The government will also construct Smriti Bhawan in memory of slain PoK men. Every effort will be made to preserve and promote the culture & traditions of displaced families," he said, adding that all pending issues of POK's displaced families will be resolved.

Govt to construct Smriti Bhawan for martyrs

The Lt Governor Sinha said that the government will also construct Smriti Bhawan in memory of slain PoK men. Every effort will be made to preserve and promote the culture & traditions of displaced families," he said, adding that all pending issues of POK's displaced families will be resolved.

Just an act of devotion, no power play at birthday bash, says Raje

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

Former Rajasthan CM Vasundhara Raje has denied that her birthday celebrations held on March 4 in Salasar in Churu district was a show of strength, claiming that it was just an 'act of devotion'. Over 50,000 people had gathered for the event, and as per her aides, dozens of prominent BJP leaders turned up to congratulate her.

Speaking to the media in Khatushyamji in Sikar on Monday, Raje said, "It was not a show of strength, but devotion. It is not right to publicise it in the media as a show of strength." Raje said that she does not need to organise a show of strength. "The same question is asked to me every year around the same time, but in the last three years, my Dev Darshan Yatra goes on as usual. The event was organised on March 4 as Holi is falling on March 8," she said.

Last year also, a grand event was organised on her birthday at Keshavraipatan in Bundi district. A large number of BJP MLAs and MPs as well as other leaders associated with the party had participated in it.

Incidentally, this time, in an apparent bid to counter Raje's event, a protest was organised on the same day by the state unit of the BJP against the Ashok Gehlot-led government on the issue of an alleged paper leak. It was led by her arch rival Satish Poonia, the president of the BJP's Rajasthan unit.

Instructions were issued to all party MLAs to participate in the protests. The Raje camp claims that 12 MPs, 52 MLAs and 118 former MLAs of the party went to congratulate Raje. To convey the message of solidarity, BJP's state in-charge Arun Singh too reached Salasar to congratulate her.

The factionalism in Rajasthan BJP is hardly a secret. There are about half a dozen contenders for the post of the Chief Minister even as the state goes for Assembly polls later this year. The ongoing tussle between Vasundhara Raje and Satish Poonia is well-documented.

Home Minister Amit Shah and Arun Singh have said that the polls year will be fought under the collective leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. This wouldn't have pleased Raje's supporters who have been clamouring for the CM's post for her for long.

Political analysts believe that by holding the grand rally in Salasar, Raje has given a befitting reply to her opponents in the party and also sent a message of her popularity to the central leadership.

Govt sets rules on endorsing products online

Muslim couple marry in temple run by Hindu group in Himachal

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

GIVING the message of religious harmony, a Muslim engineer couple got married as per the Islamic wedding rituals on the premises of a Hindu temple in Rampur in Shimla district in Himachal Pradesh.

The wedding took place on Thakur Satyanarayan temple complex premises in Rampur that is run by Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP). The Nikah ceremony was performed in the presence of a Maulvi. Both the Muslim and Hindu communities came together and attended the wedding ceremony.

Thakur Satyanarayan Kapooria Temple Trust Rampur General Secretary Vinay Sharma said for the first time a Muslim couple got married at the hall at the Dhramsala in our temple complex.

The marriage was solemnized on March 3 (Friday). The booking of marriage hall was allowed "as per as per our rules and regulations which they followed", he said. "There was no discrimination and everyone is welcome and it was gentle gesture from our side," he added.

The groom's party came from Chamba and a marriage reception was hosted in the hall in which Dham, a traditional vegetarian festive Himachali cuisine meal was served.

"We give the hall in the temple complex for social functions like marriage and death ceremonies with a condition no egg of meat will be served, Sharma said, adding that Vishwa Hindu Parishad runs the temple and the district office of RSS situated in the complex.

Mahendra Singh Malik, father of the girl said, "We solemnised the marriage at the hall within the temple complex as it was in our neighborhood as we respect all religions besides this has been appreciated by all the people of the area who took active part in organising this wedding. The purpose of getting this marriage done on the temple premises is to spread the message of religious harmony and brotherhood."

When asked if the boy's family or the maulvi had any objections, Malik said that they were also very supportive. His daughter Naymat Malik is an M.Tech civil engineer. The groom, is also a civil engineer.

UKRAINIAN FORCES TO STAY IN ENCIRCLED BAKHMUT, NO RETREAT PLANS FOR NOW

MOSCOW

UKRAINE pledged on Monday to bolster its defences in frontline Bakhmut, after reports that Kyiv was withdrawing from the city that's become a symbolic prize in the war. The eastern Ukrainian city has been virtually flattened in what has become the longest and bloodiest battle since Russia's more than year-long invasion.

Ukraine has reported an increasingly difficult situation around Bakhmut in recent days and some analysts said its forces may have initiated a strategic retreat.

But President Volodymyr Zelensky met with top commanders Monday and his office said they were in favour of "continuing the defensive operation and further strengthening our positions in Bakhmut." Neither side has said how many troops they have lost in the battle, with observers saying both Moscow and Kyiv are trying to exhaust each other. Russia has appeared determined to take Bakhmut at all costs, despite analysts saying the city has little strategic value. The Ukrainian army said Sunday that its troops had fought off "more than 130" Russian attacks in a single day around Bakhmut and said Moscow's forces were trying to encircle the city. The US-based Institute for the Study of War has said Ukrainian forces may have initiated a strategic retreat from the city. "Ukrainian forces are likely conducting a limited tactical withdrawal in Bakhmut, although it is still too early to assess Ukrainian intentions concerning a complete withdrawal from the city," it said in a recent analytical note.

As the fight rages, the head of Russia's mercenary group Wagner that is spearheading the Bakhmut battle, has complained his forces there lack ammunition.

Yevgeny Prigozhin alleged late Sunday that Russian reservists meant to deploy to Bakhmut had been diverted and that ammunition promised by the military was days late in arriving.

"We are trying to understand what the reasons are — the usual bureaucracy or betrayal," Prigozhin said on social media. Prigozhin, a Kremlin-linked businessman, has seen his influence grow hugely during Moscow's offensive and has regularly competed with the Russian army.

Four Americans kidnapped in northeast Mexico

WASHINGTON: Four US citizens have been kidnapped after gunmen opened fire on their vehicle in the northern Mexico border city of Matamoros, the FBI said. The four had entered Matamoros, across from Brownsville, Texas, on Friday and were travelling in a white minivan with North Carolina license plates. The FBI San Antonio Division office said in a statement Sunday that the vehicle came under fire shortly after it entered Mexico. "All four Americans were placed in a vehicle and taken from the scene by armed men," the office said. Matamoros is home to warring factions of the Gulf drug cartel and shootouts there on Friday were so bad that the US Consulate issued an alert about the danger and local authorities warned people to shelter in place.

Taiwanese electronics giant, contract manufacturer of Apple smartphones, has written two separate letters to Telangana and Karnataka governments on its plans

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

CONFUSION still prevails over the plans of iPhone contract manufacturer Foxconn to set up its new manufacturing unit in India.

The Taiwanese electronics giant wrote two separate letters to the Telangana and Karnataka governments. In the communication to the Telangana government, it committed to set up a manufacturing facility in Kongara Kalan. "I now have a new friend in India and I look forward to working with you in future. As discussed with you during our meeting on March 21, Foxconn is committed to setting up a manufacturing facility in Kongara Kalan and I seek the support of your team in operationalising the Kongara Kalan Park as early as possible," reads the letter to Telangana government.

In another letter to Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, Foxconn said its team will be in close contact to take forward "Project Elephant".

The company, in the letter to Bommai, said this "Project Elephant" will lay a strong foundation for the company's other multiple plans, spanning mechanical/ precision machinery, electric vehicle, IC design and semiconductor segments to consider the state as a potential investment destination.

Foxconn has denied entering into definitive pact

Earlier Foxconn said it has not entered into binding, definitive agreements for new investments during this trip. "Negotiations and internal review are ongoing."

Apple shifted its focus to India after its prime manufacturers and assembling plants in China faced shutdown in 2022 due to the country's zero-Covid policy. Tension between the US and China is another reason that US technology firms are shifting their base from the world's second-largest economy to India or Vietnam. Last week, Foxconn Chairman Young Liu visited India. Following his visit, both the states claimed to have signed a pact with the company to set up Apple's manufacturing unit in their respective states. However, as per the reports, Foxconn said it has not entered into binding, definitive agreements for new investments during this trip. "Negotiations and internal review are ongoing. Financial investment sums discussed in the media are not the information being released by Foxconn," said the company in a statement. A query sent to the company to clear the air remained unanswered at the time of going to the press. Meanwhile, Bommai said in a tweet that the government had signed an agreement with the company for a major investment in the state.

LETTER OF INTENT

'PROJECT WILL LAY STRONG FOUNDATION'

"MY team will be in close contact with your team to take this forward and ensure successful grounding of "Project Elephant" in Bengaluru," Liu stated in his letter to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai. Liu wrote to the CM on Monday and a copy of the letter was released to the media by the CMO.

Liu was in Bengaluru last week. The "Letter of Intent" was signed in his presence for setting up a manufacturing facility on 300 acres of land at ITIR (Information Technology Investment Region) in Doddaballapur and Devanahalli taluks within five years (2023-2027).

"I am confident that this project will lay a strong foundation for our other multiple plans, spanning mechanical/ precision machinery, electric vehicle, and IC design & semiconductor segments to consider your state as a potential investment destination," Liu stated in his letter.

He thanked Bommai and his team for making his visit to Bengaluru a success.

The CM had earlier tweeted that Apple phones will be built in the state soon and it will create about 100,000 jobs.

Economists divided over Rajan's 'Hindu rate of growth' comment

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

Economists are devided over what former Reserve Bank of India (RBI) governor Raghuram Rajan recently said about the state of the Indian economy.

Some of them say instead of looking at quarterly numbers, economic growth should be looked at on an annual basis.

"When we look at economic growth, we should look from an annual growth basis and not from quarterly numbers. Talking about annual numbers, we are speaking of 7% growth rate for the current fiscal year, 6.4% for next year, so it is definitely not a stagnant rate of growth like 3 or 3.5%, which we had 30-40 years after independence. So statistically speaking, that India is anywhere close to Hindu rate of growth is not right," Madan Sabnavis, chief economist, Bank of Baroda, said.

Rajan, in his recent interview to PTI, said, "India is dangerously close to Hindu rate of growth". The term "Hindu rate of growth" was coined by economist Raj Krishna in 1978, which he used to denote the GDP growth at nearly 4% from the 1950s to the 1980s.

"October-December GDP numbers suggest slowing growth from heady numbers in the first half of the year... RBI projects an even lower 4.2% for the last quarter of this fiscal," Rajan told PTI. His statement came after the National Statistical Office's report showed sequential slowdown in the latest estimate of national income.

Madhavi Arora, economist at Emkay Global Financial Services, echoed the same and said, "On a structural basis, to say we are going towards 3.5% growth is a bit of a stretch." However, Arun Kumar, economist and former professor at Delhi's Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU) agreed with Rajan on his views on slowing economy. He said, "Indian economy has been going up and down. There is no fixed rate of growth."

Festivals, 'expensive' OBD norm to push auto sales in March

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AUTO sales are expected to log healthy growth in March on the back of festivals and forced buying due to the implementation of new pollution norms, from April, which will increase vehicle prices.

"March has multiple festivals like Holi, Ugadi, Gudi Padwa, Navratri and more. This will help push auto sales. Apart from this, better availability of vehicles, last month of the financial year FY23, change in OBD (on-board diagnostic system for emission control) norms from April will increase vehicle prices. The industry may see schemes being rolled out by original equipment manufacturers (OEMs), aiding higher sales," said FADA on Monday.

Automobile retail sales in February 2023 grew by 16% year-on-year (YoY) to 17.75 lakh units, shows data released by the Federation of Automobile Dealers Association (FADA). However, the numbers were still below the pre-Covid-19 pandemic levels as sales in February 2023 were 8% lower than the pre-covid month of February 2020, showed the data.

Raising some near-term concerns, the dealer association body said that a sharp slowdown in private consumption expenditure to a 2-year low suggests a softening in household spending demand amid inflationary pressure as post covid pent-up demand starts to fade.

Add to it, the finance ministry's predictions of a return of El Niño conditions in the Pacific could presage a weaker monsoon in India, resulting in lower output and higher prices. This will act as a dampener for auto sales. "While March looks good for auto sales, on a medium-term outlook, FADA remains cautious till the time a better monsoon forecast is not announced by IMD," said FADA.

Commenting on February sales, Manish Raj Singhania, FADA president, said, "Launch of new models, improving supply coupled with healthy booking to cancellation ratio and wedding bells kept the momentum going for this already well to do segment."

Second round of auction for RCap on March 20

SACHIN KUMAR @ Mumbai

THE Committee of Creditors (CoC) of Reliance Capital has decided to hold a second round of auction for the sale of company assets on March 20, in which lenders have asked bidders to offer a minimum of ₹8,000 in cash upfront.

According to the rules of the extended challenge mechanism, the minimum threshold or the bid starting value has been pegged at ₹9,500 crore, with the subsequent round rising to ₹10,000 crore and by ₹250 crore in any round that follows.

The minimum threshold value was kept at ₹6,500 crore in the first round that concluded on December 21.

The decision of Committee of Creditors comes after the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) last week allowed lenders of Reliance Capital to hold an extended challenge mechanism or second round of auction for the sale of the debt-ridden financial services company.

Bid starting value set at ₹9,500 crore

According to the rules of the extended challenge mechanism, the minimum threshold or the bid starting value has been pegged at ₹9,500 crore, with the subsequent round rising to ₹10,000 crore and by ₹250 crore in any round that follows

NCLAT's verdict was a huge relief for Reliance Capital as it has paved the way for the lenders to hold another round of challenge mechanism for the company to seek higher bids.

"An amount of ₹8,000 crore shall be the minimum upfront cash component for participating in round one and subsequent rounds of the Challenge Mechanism. Any revised Financial Proposal submitted by the Resolution Applicant's irrespective of the threshold bid amount of the round shall comply with this requirement of minimum ₹8,000 crore of upfront cash," said a source.

Lenders are expecting to realise an upward of ₹10,000 crore from the extended challenge mechanism.

The legal wrangle is unlikely to end soon in the insolvency case of Reliance Capital as sources say that Torrent is likely to move the Supreme Court against the NCLAT decision.

In the first round of the challenge mechanism, Torrent had emerged as the highest bidder with a bid amount of ₹8,640 crore, while Hinduja Group firm IndusInd International Holdings Ltd (IIHL) was the second highest with ₹8,110 crore bid.

The first round of the auction ran into a legal tangle after the IndusInd International Holdings made an all-cash bid of ₹9,000 crore to the lenders after the completion of the auction process.

Torrent challenged the IndusInd International Holdings' bid in the NCLT, though the company itself revised its own bid of ₹8,640 crore by offering the entire amount in cash upfront as against ₹3,750 crore offered in the auction.

The NCLT ruled in favour of Torrent and stayed the second round of auction, but the Reliance Capital lenders challenged the NCLT decision in the appellate tribunal, which ruled in their favour and allowed them to go ahead with the second round of auction.

Sensex reclaims 60,000 mark on global cues, Adani stocks' rally

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DESPITE high inflation and future rate hike concerns, domestic equity market on Monday witnessed a decent rally for the second straight session on the back of improvement in global cues and a rebound in Adani Group stocks.

A rise in energy stocks helped benchmark Sensex to end above the psychological mark of 60,000. The BSE Sensex jumped 415.49 points, or 0.69% to settle at 60,224.46 while the NSE Nifty50 rose 117.10 points, or 0.67% to close at 17,711.45. The two benchmark indices had gained about 1.50% each on Friday.

"Major concerns prevailed in the market during the previous weeks were the fear of aggressive Fed policy action, which led to a rise in treasury yields & US dollar, and the uncertainties surrounding Adani. All of these have now shifted in favour of the bulls, as US officials reduced the likelihood of a sharp rate hike, forcing yields and the dollar index to moderate," said Vinod Nair, head of research at Geojit Financial Services.

Fifth straight session gains for Adani stocks

This is fifth straight session when most Adani stocks are closing with big gains, recouping parts of the massive loss caused by the scathing report of short-seller Hindenburg Research

Among the Adani Group stocks, Adani Enterprises jumped about 6% while Adani Wilmar, Adani Total Gas, Adani Green Energy, Adani Transmission, Adani Power and NDTV hit an upper circuit of 5% each. Adani Ports ended the day with mild gains while Group's cement firms - Ambuja Cements and ACC - shed up to 2%.

This is the fifth straight session when most Adani stocks are closing with big gains, recouping parts of the massive loss caused by the scathing report of short-seller Hindenburg Research. Shrikant Chouhan, head of equity research (Retail), Kotak Securities, said while there is some amount of bargain buying seen after the recent sell off, the overall sentiment still remains that of caution with a negative bias.

Daily UPI transactions cross 36 crore: RBI Guv

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

RESERVE BANK OF INDIA (RBI) Governor Shaktikanta Das on Monday said payments through unified payment interface (UPI) have grown exponentially in the past 12 months, with daily transactions crossing 36 crore in March, which is a rise of 50% from 24 crore in February 2022.

In value terms, these transactions are worth ₹6.27 lakh crore, registering a growth of 17% from ₹5.36 lakh crore in February 2022, said the Governor while launching the Digital Payments Awareness Week at the RBI headquarters.

He also said the overall monthly digital payment transactions crossed over ₹1,000-crore mark each month during the past three months.

"Our payment systems are talked about globally and several countries have shown interest to replicate our success story. It is a matter of pride that our payment systems have witnessed over 1,000 crore transactions every month since December 2022. This speaks volumes of the robustness of our payments ecosystem and acceptance by consumers," Das said. In terms of volume, the number of UPI transactions exceeded 800 crore in January 2023, while NEFT (National Electronic Funds Transfer) witnessed the highest ever daily volume of 3.18 crore transactions on February 28.

The UPI was launched in 2016, and since then it has emerged as the most popular and preferred payment mode pioneering person-to-person and person-to-merchant transactions accounting for 75% of the total digital payments.

The volume of UPI transactions has increased manifold from 0.45 crore in January 2017 to 804 crore in January 2023. The value of UPI transactions has increased from just Rs 1,700 crore to Rs 12.98 lakh crore during the same period.

On tokenisation exercise, he said the RBI has created over 48 crore card tokens, which have processed over 86 crore transactions, making it the world's biggest tokenisation exercise. Tokenised transactions have increased from 35% initially to 62% of the ecosystem.

Acceptance of digital payments infrastructure has increased from 17 crore touch points to 26 crore touch points, which is an increase of 53%.

The Governor also launched 'Har payment digital' mission which seeks to reinforce RBI's commitment to deepen digital payments in the country.

Das further said the RBI has decided to adopt 75 villages by involving village-level entrepreneurs as part of the 75 digital villages programme. Under this programme, PSOs will adopt 75 villages and convert them into digital payment enabled villages.

Addressing the same event, deputy governor Rabi Sankar said that the digital vision 2025 of the RBI (when the department turns 20 years) is to ensure digital payments by everyone, everywhere and every time.

Modric back in Croatia squad for Euro qualifiers

Luka Modric is back in the Croatian national team as part of a 25-man squad named Monday that includes Benfica forward Petar Musa for two European Championship qualifying games. Modric, 37, said after captaining Croatia to victory over Morocco in the third-place game at last year's World Cup that he wanted to 'continue until at least the Nations League and after we will see.'

Selection trials for Asian C'ships, top wrestlers may give it a miss

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

THE extended deadline of the oversight committee (OC) constituted to look after the day-to-day affairs of the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) might be nearing the end but the panel is expected to work at least till this week. Selection trials' directives for the upcoming Asian Championships issued by the OC led by legendary boxer MC Mary Kom at least suggest so. The continental championships, which was moved out of the country due to ongoing fight between WFI and wrestlers, will be held in Astana, Kazakhstan from April 9 to 14.

And as has been the case for the past one-and-a-half-month since the wrestlers staged a protest against WFI president Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh, the trials might not see participation from the country's top wrestlers barring a few. Notably, all of them had already missed the two Ranking Series held during this period.

"Bajrang Punia is nursing an injury so he is unlikely to participate. Similarly, Vinesh Phogat, Sakshi Malik and Sangeeta Phogat may also not attend the trials," said a source in the know of the things. "Ravi Dahiya, Deepak Punia and Sarita Mor are going to be a part of the trials," the source added. The Asian Championships is a crucial event for wrestlers, especially those looking at participating at the World Championships later this year.

The eligible wrestlers were asked to pre-register themselves for the trials by 5 PM on Sunday but it is learnt that the last date has been extended as a few of them could not complete the process. The trials for freestyle and Greco-Roman wrestlers will be held on March 10 while trials for the women wrestlers will be held the next day in New Delhi.

As per the eligibility criteria issued by the OC, only those wrestlers who have been a medallist in the selected events can attend the trials. The events are the 2023 1st Ranking Series Zagreb Open, 2023 2nd Ranking Series, Ibrahim Moustafa Open, Egypt, 2022 Senior National Championship, Vizag, 2022 Commonwealth Games, 2022 Asian Championships, 2022 U-23 World Championships, 2022 U-20 World Championships, 2022 U-20 Asian Championships and 2022 U-23 Asian Championships.

Given the criteria, 160 wrestlers (55 in freestyle, 46 in GR and 59 in WW) have been selected to attend the trials. The OC also constituted a selection committee for the purpose. Mar Kom is the chairperson of the panel which also included Yogeshwar Dutt and Babita Phogat.

OVERSIGHT COMMITTEE SUBMITS REPORT TO SPORTS MIN

Meanwhile, sources indicated that the much-awaited probe report has been submitted by the OC to the sports ministry. The committee had heard wrestlers, coaches and support staff before sidelined WFI chief Singh appeared before it on February 28. The fate of Singh, who is serving his third term as the WFI president, and the federation, depends on the outcome of the report. Singh was accused of sexual harassment, misappropriation of funds and high-handedness by the wrestlers during the protest. He has vehemently denied all the allegations including sexual harassment.

Sushil at father's funeral

Two-time Olympic medallist wrestler Sushil Kumar on Monday got a four-day parole to attend the last rites of his father, Diwan Singh. His father suffered brain hemorrhage and was in hospital since February 26. He passed away on Sunday night. It's his father, a former wrestler and a driver with MTNL Delhi, who inspired Sushil to take up wrestling. Sushil, the country's most-decorated wrestler is one of the accused in Sagar Dhankar's murder and has been lodged in Tihar Jail.

INDIA'S SPIN PLAYING ENDEMIC

Decline in performance against tweakers from the top batters is a worrying sign for the hosts

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Indore

WANT to claim Virat Kohli's wicket in Asia? Bring a spinner, preferably a left-armer, and target the stumps. Chances are he will be out leg-before. Or bowled. He has been dismissed 13 times in Asia since December 2021. Nine of those have seen him leg-before (7) or bowled (2). The other pattern that's clear is to get them to bowl around the stumps. To be fair to Kohli, an apex predator in all terrains and across all formats till recently, playing high quality spin on helpful tracks isn't a Kohli-specific problem. It's endemic and it's been highly contagious of late.

Forget what happened in Indore. The state of the pitch is an obvious mitigation but India's weaknesses in the face of spin (irrespective of the status quo of the spinner) has been bothering them for some time now. It's very clear they are not bad players of spin bowling, per se. Against that bowling type away from home, India's top six, between them, maintain a healthy average. In four of the years since 2017, they averaged over 70 runs per wicket (2017, 19, 20 and 21). However, there's a very clear downward trajectory if you consider their averages against spin at home since the time they dominated the South Africans in 2019. The law of diminishing marginal returns has been in effect since then (37.48 in 2021, 34.78 in 2022 and 18.96 in 2023). What those numbers don't tell you is that they are slightly inflated because of a few knocks from the blade of Rishabh Pant.

That becomes clear when you individually analyse the numbers of the players who have played at least 10 Tests at home before 2020. Take Kohli, for example. His average against spin in India has dipped from 68.42 in the first 39 Tests to 25 in his last 10 Tests. Rohit Sharma, generally recognised as one of the country's top batters against red-ball spinners, averaged 88.33 in his first 14 Tests. It's 45.85 over his last nine games. Cheteshwar Pujara went from 59.84 in his first 41 Tests to 23.28 in his last nine Tests. Even giving the caveat that some of the pitches they have played on has been very challenging, this is unbecoming for an elite set of batters for whom playing spin was meat and drink not very long ago.

Former India batting coach, Sanjay Bangar, during the 2015 series against South Africa, had explained how to play on turning tracks. He had noted using the depth of the crease or going right forward to smother the turn or just trusting your defence. The ones who have occupied the crease like Axar Patel (361 balls) and Marnus Labuschagne (375) have done that. They have gone right back or used their feet to get to the pitch of the ball before ensuring they don't swipe across the line, a tricky shot on surfaces with lots of variable surface, especially after going right back. This is what's been causing the likes of Kohli problems.

While there is some merit to the theory that Kohli has been extremely unlucky in that he has been getting out to practically what has been first mistake, those mistakes have been bad when you take a look at it. Take both the leg-before decisions in the Indore Test. In the second innings, he went back to a short delivery looking to pull it but the ball scooted off the surface. In the first innings, he tried to whip a delivery that pitched on middle and off before straightening a touch and Kohli was all in all kinds of trouble.

That first-innings wicket claimed by Todd Murphy is one to keep an eye on. After his eight-wicket haul in India's second innings, Nathan Lyon was asked about coming around the wicket to right-hand batters. "I know a lot of people see it as a negative. I see it as the total opposite," he had said after the second day of the Test. "I think it's very attacking, you are bringing all modes of dismissal. Times have changed when you were able to bowl over the stumps and still get guys in line." In the context of this series, multiple batters on both sides have fallen for it because of the big spin and the natural variation on offer (Moeen Ali had removed Kohli coming around the wicket in the second Test at Chennai in 2021. It was a similar delivery and Kohli went back but failed to make contact with the ball).

Speaking about the context of this series, it was a big surprise when Australia didn't play Ashton Agar in the first Test. It wasn't a surprise when they flew Matthew Kuhnemann for the second Test and to see him given the ball ahead of Lyon. It also wasn't a surprise to see him pick a five for. India have developed a recent weakness when facing left arm spin in all formats. Sticking to red-ball cricket, Taijul Islam, Jack Leach, Ajaz Patel, Praveen Jayawickrama and Lasith Embuldeniya have all been amongst the wickets in the last 16 months or so.

Batting coach, Vikram Rathour, defended the team when he was questioned about the batters' performances against spin. "Of course you can get out as a batting unit at times but we do prefer to play on turning tracks," he had said after the first day. "That is our strength. To be fair this is a one-off wicket." It may have been a one-off wicket but the diminishing returns is an increasing cause for concern.

Upbeat UP face Capital test

WITH MEG LANNING AND ALYSSA HEALY'S TEAMS TAKE ON EACH OTHER AT THE DY PATIL STADIUM ON TUESDAY. A LOOK...

HEALY VS PANDEY

Since that ball of the century dismissal at the Carrara Oval back in 2021, Alyssa Healy has faced 18 balls from Shikha Pandey in T20Is with three runs to show. While the conditions haven't been very seam friendly in the WPL so far, Pandey with the new ball against Healy is always going to be a mouth-watering contest and Tuesday should be no different.

SHABNIM VS SHAFALI

While UP went batting-heavy against Gujarat, it should not come as a surprise if they bring in Shabnim Ismail against Delhi. With Shafali Verma and Meg Lanning at the top, the South African pacer, who clocked 128 KPH during the T20 World Cup, could come in handy in the first six overs. Shafali is likely to be tested with some short-pitched bowling.

HARRIS SISTERS REUNION

Grace Harris stole the show on Sunday night with her stellar six-hitting skills. However, she isn't the only Harris in the league. Delhi have a Harris — Laura, Grace's sister — as well. While they opted to play Alice Capsey versus RCB, Laura is as good a hitter as anyone in the world and it will be interesting to see if they unleash her against her sister's team.

Perry's corner: 15 years & counting

GOMESH S @Chennai

Ellyse Perry has been around forever — 15 years to be precise. She has been a part of all six T20 and three ODI World Cup-winning Australian squads since 2010, including the latest one that concluded at Newlands Cricket Stadium, Cape Town on February 26. And yet, she is only 32. To call her one of the GOATs of the sport would not be an understatement.

In the 2010 T20 World Cup, where Australia won their first title, Perry put her foot down to stop the ball in the final over of her own bowling to deny Sophie Devine and New Zealand a world title. 13 years on, she has taken the field in the Women's Premier League as Devine's teammate at the Royal Challengers Bangalore. In fact, she was there at the M Chinnaswamy Stadium, Bangalore as a part of the age-group New South Wales squad to witness the first-ever men's IPL game. One would call it a full circle, but not Perry.

Ellyse Perry | SPORTZPICS

"I hope it is not a full circle yet," Perry told this daily on Saturday. "I would like to keep playing for a bit longer if they want me around. It is funny how things happen throughout your career. I have played against Soph for a long period of time, but I have also had the chance to play with her at the Birmingham Phoenix in The Hundred as well."

Funnily enough, it was The Hundred last year that became a turning point of sorts in her T20I career. At that point, her place in the playing XI of the Australian side was on the radar, especially with her role as a batter coming into question. However, as she has done all through her career, Perry reinvented herself to show the world that she is just not done yet. Since 2022 The Hundred, Perry has been striking at a rate of 156.66 in T20Is, making her undroppable.

And now, she is in India for the WPL, playing for the same team she watched from the stands 15 years ago. When Indian players travel to play in the WBBL or The Hundred, where they find themselves in a much more relaxed atmosphere, trying to learn from their time there. For Perry and the other overseas stars in India, that is not the case. They are always in the limelight with pressure on them to deliver every single time. "It is just a different level here. Interest in cricket in India is higher than anywhere else in the world. Even now, we have got two buses full of people to go to training, in Australia we struggle to fill one bus. There are just so many people around. Sometimes you try to make sense of it while other times it is completely awesome," she said.

Brief scores: RCB 155 in 20 ovs (Richa 28, Shreyanka 23; Matthews 3/28) lost to MI 159/1 in 14.2 ovs (Matthews 77 n.o, Natalie 55 n.o) Full story: newindianexpress.com

Sr sports journalist Dinakar passes away

CHENNAI: S Dinakar, senior sports journalist of The Hindu Publishing Group from Chennai, passed away in Indore on Monday. He was on an assignment, covering the Border-Gavaskar Trophy. Having finished the third Test, he was set to leave for Ahmedabad when he reportedly collapsed in his hotel room. The 57-year-old joined The Hindu in 1989 before shifting to Sportstar. Since then, he rose through the ranks rapdily, reporting extensively on cricket to tennis and sailing besides local football and hockey before specialising on cricket. At the time of passing, he was the Senior Deputy Editor of sports in The Hindu. He is survived by his father.

Three boxers move Delhi High Court

NEW DELHI: Left out of the Indian team for the World boxing meet, national champs Manju Rani, Shiksha Narwal and Poonam Poonia dragged the BFI to the Delhi High Court, seeking its intervention for their inclusion. The Delhi HC has accepted their writ petition and will hear the matter on Tuesday. "...the petitioners have requested the relevant authorities for considering their names for selection in women's world championship, but they did not get any fruitful results," they wrote.

Heena betters U-16 400m national record

ENS @Chennai

In the age of hyper social media, distance seldom matters. Even in sports. Take this unusual story of Rezoana Mallick Heena, a 16-year-old runner from Bengal. Spotted through instagram posts, training in Bengaluru and now she has just shattered a decade-old U-16 national record. In the process, she outperformed her seniors and peers as well.

Heena touched the tape with a timing of 53.22 seconds which was better than rising quartermiler Priya Mohan's 53.55s of Karnataka in U-20 and Dandi Jyothika (53.26s) in seniors of Andhra Pradesh during the National Open 400m Championships at Thiruvananthapuram on Monday.

Muhammed Ajmal of Kerala won gold with a timing of 46.90 in men's 400m followed by Rahul Ramesh Kadam of Maharashtra (47.51) and Santosh Kumar of Tamil Nadu (47.72). In the senior women's section, Aishwarya Mishra of Maharashtra was second with timing of 53.49 while Kiran Pahal of Haryana clocked 54.29.

What seems interesting is the journey of the Bengal girl. Hailing from a small town in Nadia district, she was spotted through instagram posts. "I spotted and got in touch with her through instagram posts," said Arjun Ajay, Heena's coach. She has been training at his academy Top Gun Track and Field Academy in Bengaluru since 2021. It was not difficult for Ajay to convince her parents. Coming from a not too well-off family, Arjun had to take care of her training and stay. "Her family is not well-off and I told them how much ever you can manage, you manage, I will take care of her training and other needs associated with the sport," he said. Interestingly, even Priya is helping in managing her.

After Grand show, teen sensation hungry for bigger returns

VISHNU PRASAD @Bengaluru

BRENDA Fruhvirtova may just be 15 but she is already creating ripples in the world of tennis. In January, the Czech youngster made the main draw of the Australian Open, the fifth-youngest player in history to make the main draw of a Grand Slam, and the first player born in 2007. In the first round match, she put up a brave fight against World No 38 Aliaksandra Sasnovich, taking the first set to 7-5, before losing the second 6-2.

Before that, she went on a remarkable winning spree in 2022, lifting five straight ITF titles and going unbeaten for 27 straight matches. The run propelled her to 163rd in the rankings — at one point, she was in the top 130 — and into broader consciousness. For somebody who is just fifteen months into her professional career, that is quite the rise. Former Wimbledon champion Marion Bartoli even went as far as saying that Brenda and her 17-year-old sister Linda — already World No 53 — could be the future of tennis.

Brenda is now in Bengaluru to play the KPB Trust ITF Women's Open and her rapid rise in stature means that despite being the youngest in the draw, she is the top seed. Ever since her Australian Open qualification, she has gone from being an unknown to being the woman to beat in ITF tournaments. But Brenda is confident that she is up to the task. "I think it is more of an advantage for me than the pressure," she says. "For sure, after making it to the main draw of a Grand Slam, there is pressure on me. But I take it as a positive that I qualified for the main draw."

Brenda Fruhvirtova is now in Bengaluru to play the KPB Trust ITF Women's Open

Travelling around the world at such a young age means that Brenda has to sacrifice a lot of things that others her age take for granted. She says she attends school online whenever she gets time, but has to physically appear for exams whenever she is back home. But she knew what she had to sacrifice — she is following the same path that her older sibling Linda embarked on. "I look up to my sister," Brenda says. "She was playing when I was small, so I wanted to play too. When I am back home, and my sister is back home as well, we just hang out with each other and do something fun. We go to the cinema, or go shopping or bake together."

Her immediate goal is to win her tenth ITF title here but her sights are already set on bigger things. 2023, Brenda hopes, will be the year she takes her game to the next stage. "My goals are to stay high up in the rankings and play bigger tournaments, like WTA events and Grand Slams," she says.

Chelsea hope to find firepower

AGENCIES @London

GRAHAM Potter said on Monday he is confident goal-shy Chelsea can find their cutting edge to beat Borussia Dortmund and reach the Champions League quarter-finals. Potter's side ended a miserable run with a 1-0 win over Leeds in the Premier League on Saturday, giving them a boost ahead of Tuesday's last 16 second leg against Dortmund at Stamford Bridge. But Chelsea -- who have only scored twice in their past seven matches -- will likely need two goals to progress against the Bundesliga title-chasers, who are 1-0 up after the first leg.

DAY'S DIARY

Telephone patented

Scottish-born scientist and inventor Alexander Graham Bell received a patent for the telephone on this day in 1876

REVOLUTIONARY INVENTION

Bell's invention of the telephone revolutionised the way people communicate with one another. It allowed people to instantly talk to each other over long distances

BELL-WATSON COLLAB

Bell worked with Thomas Watson on the design and patent of the first practical telephone. He held 18 patents in his name and 12 he shared with collaborators

'SCIENCE' JOURNAL

Bell also supported the journal 'Science', which later became the official publication of the American Association for the Advancement of Science

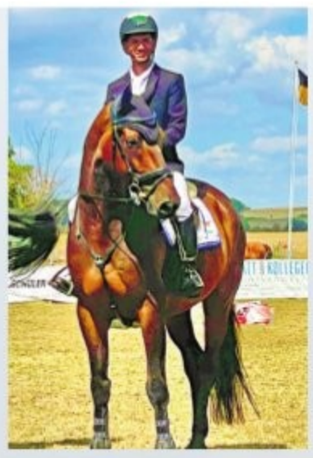
Equestrian Ashish Limaye, who has recently secured a spot for India at the 2023 Asian Games, speaks about his beginnings, experience of working as an instructor in Bengaluru, and the formidable European circuit

RIDING HIGH

TUNIR BISWAS

ASHISH Limaye is in the process of making history. For the upcoming Asian Games 2023, the 29-year-old equestrian has become the first Indian to achieve the minimum eligibility requirement for an individual entry on two horses. But his involvement in the sport first started as a hobby. "So, when I first started riding, I used to ride in a small space. But then I went to see a national tournament in Pune where I met the late Arjuna awardee Ghulam Mohammed Khan. He took me under his wing and after that, I started competing. This was around 2004-05," shares Limaye.



After straying away from the engineering path, Limaye decided to professionally take up horse riding around 2015. Four years later, while still in Pune, where he and his wife started a riding club, Limaye was invited by the Embassy International Riding School in Bengaluru to be a trainer. He gladly took the offer. "The number of medals that we got during those years when I was associated with Embassy was unbelievable," says Limaye.

Regarding horse riding in India, he says the sport is picking up speed rapidly. "It is really growing a lot. It's coming up well, and lots of kids are getting into it. But I think if you want to go to the top level, you still need better horses and for that, I think the finances are the most important thing. The sponsorship support is the main issue is what I would say. Currently, we have enough to do well at the Indian level. But if you want to enter the European circuit, the challenge is much greater," he explains.

Limaye, who himself moved to Germany in 2021, was first amazed at how much more of a challenge the European circuit posed compared to the one back home. "I was doing very well in India. But after moving to Europe, I saw that almost everyone there was riding better than I. In India, we rely a lot on manpower where the riders depend on others a lot and focus only on riding. But in Europe, you don't have a lot of help and have to do a lot of small things yourself. It took me a while to adapt. I will have to credit my coach for it. In the introductory class, I ranked about 37 out of 90 riders. And now, with her help, I have consistently ranked in the top 10 with both my horses. I think I am improving steadily and hopefully, this progress continues," he concludes.

> Currently, we have enough to do well at the Indian level. But if you want to enter the European circuit, the challenge is much greater

Celebrated Carnatic musician and writer T M Krishna hails Biennale blend, calls for more 'social collectives'

Buzz @ Biennale

EXPRESS FEATURES

ARTWORKS on display at the Kochi Muziris Biennale raise pertinent and thought-provoking questions concerning life and society on a global level, according to noted Carnatic vocalist and author T M Krishna, who visited the art extravaganza recently. "The Biennale poses difficult questions about society, our choices in the way we live and the difficult parts of the world and the people whose imagination is not considered as part of mainstream...In many ways the inspiration comes from the difficult questions that many artists have asked," he says. "The state of the world today is being brought out through the personal reflections of these artists coming from different social, political, and geographical conditions."

Creations communicate with each other, and those which do not, provoke thoughts, he notes. "The element of contrast found between contemporary and historical arts is another important feature. The artworks at the Biennale take the limits of imagination beyond all anticipation," says Krishna. "The most important highlight of the Biennale is the inclusion of everyone without any kind of discrimination. The nature of Kochi, that sense of equanimity, is in every way suited to be a Biennale venue. It's good to find a place where you can just take that hustle and bustle in an imaginative, creative manner, which is what art does."

Krishna adds he was impressed with the wide selection of videos or moving picture presentations this year. "It's far more than what I have seen before, which I think is so interesting. The multimedia mix of visual imaginaries, moving pictures, texts, and sound. That was a pleasant and interesting surprise," he says.

"The way narratives have been presented is beyond just paintings, sketchings, or etchings. This entire fluidity between different forms of visual media, that's quite a highlight to me."

The Biennale, Krishna highlights, has made a 'very significant' post-Covid statement. "We need many more gatherings, not just celebratory social gatherings, but political and social collectives, which is what artists are meant for," he says.

Human in the Loop(WIP) is a performance where dancers and digital choreographers work together to create an exciting new dance experience. Nicole Seiler from Switzerland, the brainchild behind the concept, speaks about the project

Dancing to futuristic tunes

MONIKA MONALISA

ARTIFICIAL Intelligence taking over the human world has been a common topic of conversation, but have we ever witnessed a performance where humans and machines blur each other in a live choreography? Human in the Loop(WIP) is one such performance, where dancers and digital choreographers work together to create a new dance experience. At the show, which will be showcased at Ranga Shankara on March 11, dancers Diya Naidu and Parth Bharadwaj will be performing it live.

Nicole Seiler from Switzerland, who conceptualised the concept, says the inception of the idea came about after many projects started involving technology. "In 2021, thanks to a research grant, I was able to discover the two main fields of robotics: on one hand, robotics with the physical machines and their hardware; and on the other, Artificial Intelligence, the programming that governs the machine. What happens when we blur the boundaries between humans and machines? "Being more subtle and often invisible, AI has an almost elusive presence," says Seiler, adding that the show is brought by Swiss Arts Council - Pro Helvetia.

With dance traditionally being associated with human emotions, the concept also deals with how AI does not have emotions. It is impossible for it to grasp what our bodies represent for our thoughts. "While it can be taught to interpret certain bodily behaviours, the complex dynamic body thoughts are largely alien to it. It is incapable of empathy," she explains.

With such layered details, some might find slight difficulty understanding it. Putting it in simple terms, Seiler explains people can expect a 'show that is like a laboratory on stage'– with all parties involved – dance, music, AI, and light. "The AI issues choreographic instructions into the dancer's ears through a earpiece and the dancers interpret them, live and on stage. The AI instructions are generated live during the show, as is the improvisational electronic music. The two accomplished contemporary Indian dancers will respond with their bodies, bringing in personal nuances to the same set of instructions they will each receive," she says.

She might be dealing with a futuristic idea, but Seiler has deep appreciation for the Indian dance forms. "I've come to realise that Indian dance forms are so diverse and multiple, way beyond the clichés of Indian classical dance forms we think of from the west. This huge variety and rich landscape of different dances are extremely fascinating," says Seiler.

FIT BIT

BOWING YOGA MUDRA VARIATION

It is an intermediate level forward bend, stretching pose. It is a part of the Ashtanga series poses and can be used for preparing the student for headstands. This helps getting deeper in the posture.

STEPS

- First, align in Vajrasana, holding a couple of breaths and keeping the spine neutral.
- Bring the arms behind you, interlocking the fingers, place the arm close to the body stretched downwards.
- Take a few breaths and lengthen the spine, keeping the torso alert.
- Inhaling, raise arms behind you and stretch them, bringing the shoulder blades close to each other.
- Exhaling, go forward and reach the floor stretching the arms and elbows above your head.
- Stretch forward as much as possible, raise your hips, bringing the crown of the head on the floor and begin deep slow breathing for about 8 breaths.
- Be conscious of keeping the shoulders away from the ears to avoid compression at the sides of the neck.
- After staying in the pose as per your capacity, release by aligning back to Vajrasana and releasing the interlocked hands.
- As a counterpose do Vajrasana Head Back (Thunderbolt Pose Head Back)

LIMITATIONS

Breath awareness required in bandhas.

Those with injuries in spine, neck, arms, wrists, senior citizens and pregnant women, should avoid this.

Postnatal women can practise this.

BENEFITS

- Stretches and lengthens the muscles of arms, shoulders, forearms, etc.
- Helps with deeper stretch of the arms.
- Releases the stiffness in shoulders and neck area.
- Stimulates and provides fresh blood to the brain and nervous system.
- Brings calm and tranquility to the practitioners.
- Helps in issues like mental stress and anxiety.
- Helps to overcome overthinking and become more conscious and humble.
- Has not only physical benefits but also spiritual benefits.
- Balances the chakras and corrects the flow of the energy (prana).
- Connects the practitioner to their spiritual side.
- Balances the emotions in the human body.

REFRESHED RELOADED

British car maker MG has given a grand makeover to its SUV Hector, with plenty of new tech

LEKSHMI C PILLAI

XPRESS HIGHWAY
FORTNIGHTLY SEGMENT ON WHAT'S REVVING UP IN THE AUTOMOTIVE SECTOR

LAUNCHED in 2019, MG Motor's Hector has been a strong brand in the mid-size SUV market. To meet the fierce competition and demands of the market, MG has given Hector a thorough update, with more features, exciting technologies and cosmetic changes.

Morris Garages, a brand well known for its sports cars, roadsters and small cabriolet series have a legacy of 99 years. MG Hector was its first offering for India. Let's have a look at how Hector competes with the other frontrunners.

Eye-catching ride

Hector now has a larger front grille with diamond-like chrome inserts. This gives the SUV more road presence. Along the sides, there is very little change, but at the rear, the Hector has LED lighting elements that connect the tail lamps on either end. Instead of the 'Internet Inside' badge, the brand new update has an ADAS badge at the rear. The new attractive bold HECTOR badging at the rear is also eye-catching. The 18-inch diamond cut alloys remain the same in this facelift model.

Bask in luxury

The mesmerising cabin is completely different from the old model. The dual-tone oak white and black interior and rich brushed metal finish ensure the cabin exudes luxury, amplified by the cockpit-like console. A 14-inch touchscreen is the main attraction. It has better resolution and touch response. It packs in a 360-degree camera, too.

Comfortable and cosy

A large panoramic sunroof elevates the cabin's airy feel. The new model comes in five, six- and seven-seater configurations, and offers intelligently designed seating options, plush interiors, and ample space. Other notable features include auto headlamps and wipers, a powered tailgate, a wireless charger, connected car tech, an Infinity audio system, leatherette upholstery and a PM 2.5 air purifier.

The unit gets wireless Android Auto/Apple CarPlay compatibility and it can be used to open/close the sunroof, adjust the ambient lighting and control the HVAC system. There is no physical button to operate the AC controls. But the MG Assistant feature works on a set of voice commands to carry out functions like operating the sunroof, adjusting the AC temperature and fan speed, changing ambient light shades and more. The SUV has a fully digital instrument cluster too.

The electrically adjustable front seats have ventilation and are large and supportive. The back seat is also comfortable and can accommodate three adults.

Plenty of features

The new Hector comes with ADAS tech, which brings in features like adaptive cruise control, forward collision warning, lane-keeping assist, autonomous emergency braking, cruise assistance on curves, traffic jam assist etc. Intelligent indicators, which turn on when we turn the steering more than 30 degrees in either direction, are also notable additions. Six airbags, a 360-degree camera with a 3D mode, TPMS, ESC, traction control and front and rear parking sensors are in the safety features list.

The digital Bluetooth key and key sharing capability are the newly added technological innovations. In case of an emergency or loss of a key, the digital key can be used to lock, unlock, start, and drive the vehicle. Using the remote lock/unlock feature, the car can be unlocked from anywhere. With the key-sharing function, one can share an additional key with up to two people. Moreover, it now has more than 75 connected features including 100 voice commands.

An exciting drive

Hector has a 2.0-litre turbo-diesel or a 1.5-litre turbo-petrol engine. I got the turbo petrol model for this review. It has 143hp power and 250 Nm torque, paired with an 8-step CVT automatic transmission. This turbo petrol CVT is smooth to drive in all regular driving conditions. There are three drive modes — Normal, Eco and Sport.

A week with the new SUV was an impressive experience. Complete peace of mind and safe drives with all the comfort and luxury elements. I drove the car in hectic traffic many times. A truly responsive car assisted with the ADAS features made my drive very relaxing.

The SUV with Autonomous Level 2 tech offers 11 ADAS features. The traffic jam assist ensures minimal effort and maximum safety during rush hours by keeping the vehicle in the middle of the lane and maintaining a safe distance from the vehicle in front. The big screen in the dashboard gives assistance and a view of all the nearby vehicles. The guidelines also are perfect.

Based on the steering angle, the respective indicator light automatically gets ON/OFF. This automatic signal does its job well while entering the road from a parking space or during a U-turn. Overall, the car offers a very comfortable and safe ride.

Hard to beat

MG Hector has a long and strong list of competitors. Hyundai Creta, Kia Seltos, Tata Harrier, VW Taigun, Skoda Kushaq, Mahindra XUV 700 and the recent midsize SUVs from the Maruti-Toyota co-operation — Grand Vitara and Hyryder. What puts Hector ahead of its rivals is its technological richness and riding comfort. In dimensions too, it scores big. We can say that Hector is a well-balanced package. Pricing is on par, ranging between ₹14.73 lakh and ₹21.73 lakh (ex-showroom, All India).

GROWING YOUNGER OR OLDER

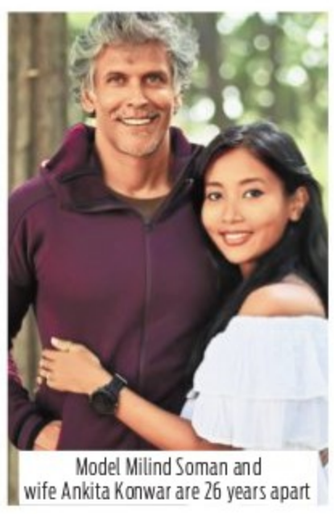
LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan

(The author is a counsellor with InnerSight)

OFTEN, in deciding on a relationship, even if we are terribly attracted to someone and really feeling drawn to them, we might tell ourselves and our friends that this is not quite relationship-material for some reason or the other, and age gaps is one such reason. It doesn't need to be intergenerational – even a few years here and there can raise eyebrows. There's so much social pressure to be around the same age as each other.

We see it happen around us all the time. Families and friends in movies and in real life question the couple going through a hormone-fuelled love fest on what they think will happen, how will the society see such a relationship, that they are not compatible because of differences in 'maturity' and how they both think of family, finances and the ephemeral 'future'. "You are having a great fun time," they would say, "But getting married is something else altogether."

This idea of 'maturity' whether about emotional maturity or otherwise, is touted as the key thing in deciding whether a relationship will mature into a long-term thing or just wither away. Sometimes, caste, class, community differences are treated as if they were shorthand for these differences. Such-and-such people are unlikely to be emotionally mature, or such-and-such people are never serious about families. Things like that which get infuriating for how they are discriminatory.



Model Milind Soman and wife Ankita Konwar are 26 years apart

Even when it is not about how family or society would react, and you are with someone exactly the same chronological age as yourself, it is very likely that in how old one feels, thinks or behaves, age differences are significant in how different we are. In choosing to be with someone for a long-term relationship, do you look for people who are in a similar mental or emotional age as you, if not physical or spiritual? Or, do you disregard such differences and think of it as just another dimension in life?

It is one thing to generally look at personality traits in compatibility tests for relationships on whether one is an introvert or an extrovert, or a beach person or a hill person. It is quite another when there is a real and significant difference in the chronological age between partners, and life experiences are greatly different.

Of course, sometimes it has little to do with chronological age as such. A 30-year-old can be a lot more concerned about safety, stability and security in general while their partner who is say 40-year-old, would be much more focused on fun and figuring things out as one goes along, but most times, there is a strong correlation between age and what's important for the person.

Do you need to grow old together in the relationship? Or, can you grow younger with a more youthful partner, or can one catapult into a greater 'maturity' with an older partner?

If in a relationship that's diverse in terms of age and maturity, the key to making it a great one for both is to acknowledge, respect and value this difference.

Sapthami Gowda

'I am preparing to give my hundred per cent for Yuva'

... says Sapthami Gowda, as she is set to collaborate with Hombale Films once again for Santhosh Ananddram-Yuvarajkumar's film

A SHARADHAA

SAPTHAMI Gowda is clearly Sandalwood's blue-eyed actor now. The Suri Popcorn Monkey Tiger actor, who shined in her role as Leela in Rishab Shetty's Kantara, is all set to once again collaborate with Hombale Films. This time, she will be seen in Santhosh Ananddram's directorial, alongside Yuvarajkumar, in his debut, Yuva. "Get ready to witness the magic of the graceful Sapthami Gowda once again! With her raw talent and dedication to the craft, we knew she was the perfect fit for Yuva," read the confirmation from the production house.

An elated Sapthami shares her excitement about bagging another project by the production house and working in Yuva. "Working with Hombale Films banner and Vijay Kiragandur as a producer is a safe space for me. Secondly, Santhosh is a director I always wanted to work with. I have watched his films, right from Mr and Mrs Ramachari, to Yuvarathna. It is going to be a learning experience working under his direction," says Sapthami. Interestingly, the actor opines that working alongside Yuvarajkumar will be a pressure. "Yuvarajkumar comes from the Rajkumar clan, the biggest film family Sandalwood has ever seen. So, I have decided to go to the sets like a debutante too," she says.

Thrilled about her role, Sapthami reveals that it will indeed be a unique one. "I am glad that Santhosh Ananddram and the team trust me to pull off this role. I am preparing to give my hundred per cent," she adds.

The actor is also making her Hindi cinema debut with Vivek Agnihotri's The Vaccine War, for which she has completed shooting. She will also be seen with Abishek Ambareesh in director S Krishna's Kaali, which is another interesting project coming her way. "I am blessed and thankful to both the directors, who have given me an opportunity to be part of their project. I'm getting a variety of roles, and I'm looking forward to juggling both films."

Shivarajkumar joins the sets of Dhanush's Captain Miller

Shivarajkumar

The Century Star is set to star in a 10-day schedule in Courtallam

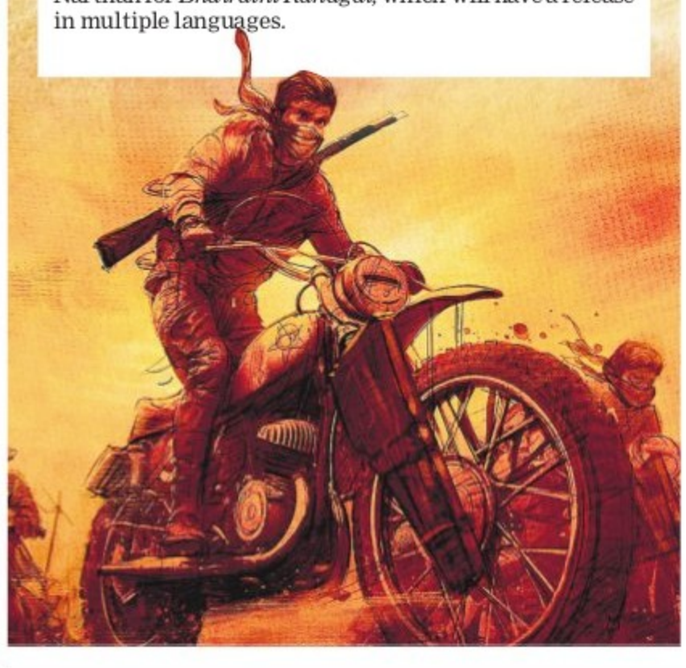
CE FEATURES

SHIVARAJKUMAR, who recently completed shooting his portions for Rajinikanth's Jailer, will now join the sets of his next Tamil film, Captain Miller, starring Dhanush in the lead. The Arun Matheswaran directorial will reportedly star the Kannada superstar as Dhanush's elder brother. Captain Miller went on floors last year, and Shivarajkumar is set to join the ongoing schedule in Courtallam. The actor will be part of a 10-day schedule from today.

An action-adventure drama set in the pre-Independence era, Captain Miller also stars Sundeep Kishan, Priyanka Mohan, Nivedhithaa Sathish, Malayalam actor Sumesh Moor, and John Kokken.

With cinematography by Shreyaas Krishna, Captain Miller will have music by GV Prakash Kumar and editing by Nagooran. Backed by Sathya Jyothi Films, Captain Miller is Dhanush's third collaboration with the production house after Pattas and Maaran.

Shivarajkumar is one of the busiest stars of the Kannada industry and has an interesting lineup, including Ghost with director Srini, and Yogaraj Bhat's Karataka Dhamanaka, which is currently on floors. Shivanna is also part of composer Arjun Janya's directorial debut, 45. The Vedha hero will be also collaborating with Narthan for Bhairathi Ranagal, which will have a release in multiple languages.



Shivaji Surathkal 2 to release on this date

Ramesh Aravind's 103rd film, directed by Akash Srivatsa, and distributed by KRG Studios, is all set to hit the screens on April 14

CE FEATURES

RAMESH Aravind has already made a mark as Shivaji Surathkal, and the makers of the hit film are gearing up to release the second instalment on April 14. The actor's 103rd film, which will be about 'The Mysterious Case of Mayavi' is directed by Akash Srivatsa, who has written the script along with Abhijith YR.

Produced by Anup Gowda and Rekha K N under the Anjanadri Cine Creations banner, Shivaji Surathkal 2 has Akash doubling up as the editor. With cinematography by Guruprasad MG and Darshan Ambat, the team is currently busy with post-production. A special song, choreographed by Dhananjay Master, was recently shot with 777 Charlie heroine Sangeetha Sringeri and Ramesh Aravind.

Speaking about the film, Akash assures that Shivaji Surathkal 2 will be quite a theatrical experience. "Composer Judah Sandy has been working really hard for the past six months to deliver quality content. Rajan, the sound designer is taking a special personal interest in designing the sound for the film. The producers are leaving no stone unturned in ensuring that the quality of the film never dips even a moment," says the director adding, "The second instalment of Shivaji Surathkal, which has generated massive expectations will be distributed by KRG Studios, and plans to release in over 150 theatres."

Shivaji Surathkal features Radhika Narayan and Meghana Gaonkar, along with Raghu Ramanakoppa, Vidya Murthy and Aradhya. "Shivaji Surathkal 2 will be a personal and professional roller coaster ride for the ace detective and it will take literally everything he considers dear to win the case," says Akash.

KADALA THEERADA BHARGAVA

Director: Pannaga Somashekar

Cast: Bharath Gowda, Patel Varun Raj, and Shruthi Prakash

Kadala Theerada Bhargava: A film about a complex relationship handled with maturity

A SHARADHAA

THERE'S nothing more satisfying for moviegoers than a charming film. Kadala Theerada Bhargava brims with charm and youthfulness but, it does not tread the path of a regular love triangle, it patiently strides into a world of fantasy stitched with the integral fabrics of love and friendship.

Experimental in many ways, the film directed by debutant Pannaga Somashekar, does not go with the story of men fighting for a girl. Instead, it chooses to define relationships in a meaningful manner, while bringing in the toxic attributes that comes along with the idea of soulmates.

This psychological thriller revolves around childhood friends, Bharath (Bharath Gowda) and Bhargava (Patel Varun Raj). Growing up, the former takes the role of a guide and protector. However, their friendship is divided when Impana (Shruthi Prakash) enters in Bharath's life. A difference of opinion causes frequent fights and arguments between the two friends. What is the reason behind all the confusion, do the events personally impact Bharath's life, and does he choose friendship over love is the underlying theme of this film, which also throws light on drug and alcohol addiction, when psychiatrist Jerry (KS Sridhar) comes into the picture.

Pannaga Somashekar's story is simple, but in terms of presenting the film, he has not taken the regular route; making it abstract with poetic dialogues, making the audience think, especially the way he has positioned the two best friends, and the way he has dealt with Impana's character. Overall, the film about a complex relationship is handled with maturity by the director but the run-time tests patience.

The film has good performances coming from the lead actors, Bharath, Patel Varun Raj, and Shruthi Prakash, who have portrayed a range of emotions through their respective characters. True to the title Kadala Theerada Bhargava, the film is set against the seabed. The placement of songs composed by Anjil CJ are well-positioned, Keertan Poojari's unique cinematography blends seamlessly through the story.

Amitabh Bachchan suffers rib injury on Project K's sets: 'It's painful while breathing'

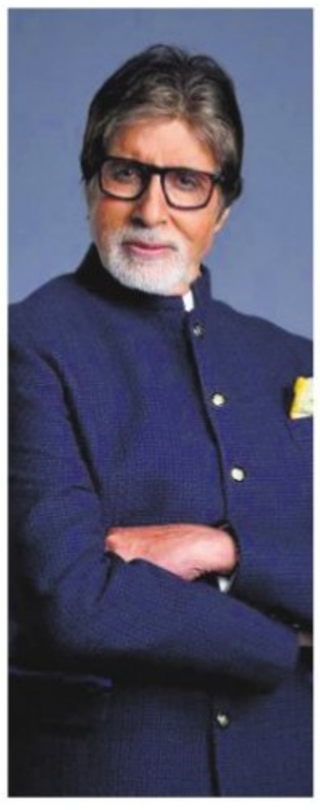
CE FEATURES

VETERAN actor Amitabh Bachchan got injured while shooting for an action sequence in Hyderabad for his upcoming film Project K. As per reports, the actor suffered a muscle tear in his right rib cage. He eventually underwent a CT scan and returned to Mumbai a few hours post the incident.

The actor has cancelled all shoots to take time to recover from the injury. Reportedly, it will take him weeks before he can go back on sets. Sharing an update with his fans via his blog, the actor wrote, "It's painful while breathing and making movement. So, work has been postponed for the moment."

He added that he will not be able to greet fans outside Jalsa this evening, "I won't be able to meet my well-wishers at Jalsa Gate this evening. So, do not come and inform as many people as you can," he said before concluding with, "Rest all is well".

This is not the first health scare on Project K's sets. Earlier, the film's lead actress Deepika Padukone was also rushed to the hospital after she complained of uneasiness. Before this also Deepika was taken to the hospital for a checkup after she complained of an increased heart rate on the sets.



Apart from Deepika and Amitabh, the film also stars Prabhas and Disha Patani. Project K has been simultaneously shot in Telugu and Hindi. It is set in a futuristic world and deals with the aftermath of war. The film is directed by Nag Ashwin and backed by Vyjayanthi Films.
